THE CHOLERA.

Number of Deaths Decreasing.

CINCINNATI, July 1.—Seven deaths from cholera were reported to-day. Mayor Johnston is nearly well.

NASHVILLE, July 1.—Cholera deaths in the city to-day six, from other diseases seven. Weather favorable. No new cases reported to-day.

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Only one case of cholera reported to-day.

CRIMES.

Desperate but Ineffectual Attempt at Suicide.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

KNIGHTSTOWN, IND., July 1, 1873.

A man by the name of Timothy Frank Smith attempted suicide yesterday at Charlottesville, a few miles west of here, by shooting three balls from a revolver, all of which took effect in his head, two in his forehead and one over the right ear. His ammunition failing, he got up, washed himself and went after a doctor to take out the balls. The balls were extracted and the doctor thinks he will recover. Heretofore he has been considered one of the leading citizens in the community, besides being a member of the Odd Fellows' Lodge.

The Walworth Patricide Trial—The Evidence Closed.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The Walworth trial was continued this morning. Dr. J. P. Gray, of the Utica Lunatic Asylum, testified to the nature of epilepsy and said the acts committed by the prisoner, as disclosed by the witnesses, showed his case to be one of marked epilepsy. His opinion was based entirely on the truth of the facts stated. With the testimony of Dr. Gray the defense closed their case, and the prosecution commenced their rebutting testimony.

After recess Dr. Parsons, of the New York City Lunatic Asylum, testified as to the effect of epilepsy, and gave his opinion that the facts attending the action of young Walworth did not indicate epileptic insanity. Dr. Kellogg, of the Hudson State Asylum, and Dr. Clymer, testified similarly.

The evidence closed and Mr. O'Conor commenced summing up for the defense, consuming the rest of the day.

Brother and Sister Commit Suicide.

BALTIMORE, July 1.—David Blacklock, aged forty, and sister, who resided near this city, were found dead in the same room the other morning. The former was poisoned and the latter was hanging to the bed post. Supposed suicide.

CASUALTIES.

Two Men Run Over and Killed.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

PLYMOUTH, IND., July 1, 1873.

Saturday night last two men, names unknown, were run over and instantly killed at Walnut station, thirteen miles south of this place, by the Southward bound train on the J., P. and C. Road. They were both intoxicated.

Church Scandal at Mansfield, Ohio.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, July 1, 1873.

There is a matter of scandal now furnishing food for the gossips of the city. Rev. S. McBurney, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, is charged with indiscretions with female members of his congregation. The rumors have caused quite a sensation, and the feeling for and against the Rev. gentleman among the members and others is quite intense. The doors of the church were closed on Sabbath last, and the pastor will probably not be allowed to occupy the pulpit again until the matter is cleared up. The presiding elder is expected in a few days to investigate the charges.

The Washington and Jefferson College Commencement.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, PA., July 1, 1873.

The exercises connected with the Commencement of the Washington and Jefferson College still continue. The reunion of the Jefferson class of 1843 was held in one of the society halls at two o'clock to-day. The historical address was delivered by Hon. J. M. Sullivant. At the same hour the Washington class of 1848 met in the other society hall and were addressed by their historian, Hon. M. Shaffer. At four o'clock there was a general reunion of the literary societies in their respective halls. At eight o'clock this evening Hon. J. W. F. White, of Pittsburgh, addressed the literary societies in the town hall. At the regular meeting of the Trustees to-day the contracts for a new college building were given out, the amount being sixty-five thousand dollars.

NEWS SUMMARY.

BY TELEGRAPH.

At New York, yesterday, David Murphy, for killing David Barry, was re-sentenced to be hanged August 2. The Judges at the general term, while denying the motion for a new trial, unanimously recommended executive clemency.

The steamer Victoria, with Cook, Son & Jenkins' large educational party on board, arrived at Moville yesterday morning at eight o'clock, all well. There are eight Pittsburghers in the party.

A dispatch from St. Johns, Newfoundland, says the Juniata arrived there on Monday, where her bows will be sheathed with iron. It is expected that she will leave for Disco in two or three days. News is expected of Buddington and party at Cape York.

Wise and Donaldson, the æronauts, are building a balloon in New York city—a private corporation bearing the expenses—in which they propose to make the voyage to Europe, starting about the 20th of August.

General L. E. Yorke, of Cincinnati, died suddenly at the St. Nicholas Hotel in that city yesterday forenoon.

General W. B. Sidell, United States Army, died in New York, Monday evening, after a lingering illness. He was a graduate of West Point, in the class of 1833. At the outbreak of the rebellion he was commissioned Major of the Fifteenth Infantry, and assigned as Chief Mustering Officer of the Department of the Cumberland in May, 1862.

The loss of the Stonewall Oil Company, of Long Island City, by fire Saturday last, is estimated at 135,000. The New York Oil Company lost $15,000.

The Orange societies of New York city yesterday applied to the Board of Police for permission to parade on the 12th of July.

The budget for the support of the city government of Brooklyn for 1874 requires upwards of 5,500,000. The rate of taxation will be about three and a half per cent.

Two supposed incendiaries were arrested at Hackensack, N. J., yesterday. A vigilance committee is talked of. Two incendiary fires have occurred.

James Gordon Bennett proposes to offer a piece of plate, value $500, as a prize in the two mile boat race at Springfield, Mass., on the 17th inst., open to the under-graduates of any college or university in America.

In the New Hampshire House of Representatives, Tuesday, the bill to allow women to vote at school district meetings was discussed and indefinitely postponed.

THE CODE DUELLO.

R. B. Rhett, Jr., and Ex-Judge Cooley, of New Orleans, Principals—The Latter Killed at the Second Fire.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 1.—A private dispatch announces that a duel was fought at Bay St. Louis this morning between R. B. Rhett, of the New Orleans Picayune, and ex-Judge Wm. H. Cooley, in which Cooley was killed at the second fire.

NEW ORLEANS, July 1.—The Times' special from Montgomery Station, Mississippi, via Bay St. Louis, July 1, says: In the Rhett and Cooley duel Judge Cooley was killed at the second fire. The parties arrived at this place on the same train at ten o'clock this morning. Mr. Rhett was accompanied by Messrs. Charles Roman and Dr. Burns, and Judge Cooley was attended by Col. Geo. W. Carter and Maj. McRae Selph. The weapons were double-barreled shot guns, one barrel loaded with single ball; distance forty yards. The ground was promptly selected, distance measured, and parties placed in position. At the first fire Rhett's shot ranged high and Cooley's to the right. Cooley delivered his fire first. At the second fire both fired simultaneously, and Cooley fell mortally wounded by a shot entering his left side and passing apparently through his heart. He expired in six minutes, without apparent suffering, only speaking the words to Dr. Holliday, "I am shot through the breast." The gentlemen engaged in the affair exchanged the usual civilities after the second fire, and separated with the expression of mutual respect and consideration.

The Evening Herald has the following: For several days past the community has been much excited by an apprehended duel between Col. R. B. Rhett, Jr., editor of the Picayune, and Judge Wm. H. Cooley, leading counsel in the case of Hawkins vs. the Picayune. The facts of the controversy will be hereafter elicited, we presume, in full. Suffice it for the present to state that on last Friday Colonel Rhett sent a peremptory challenge to Judge Cooley which was accepted by him, the meeting, however, to be postponed until Tuesday, on account of Judge Cooley's engagement to argue the rule for a new trial before Judge Hawkins, which came up yesterday. During the course of the argument Judge Cooley, in offering the motion for a continuance, remarked that if the case went over until Wednesday he might not be alive to argue it, and so it has sadly turned out. Friday the parties left on the Mobile train at 8 A. M., arriving at Montgomery Station about 10 A. M., where the party disembarked. Montgomery Station where the duel occurred, is a wild, sandy looking place, some four or five miles this side of Bay St. Louis, where the road passes through a wood of tall pines, behind which is an open field. Near by, and on the line of the railroad, is a small cottage occupied by a family, but with this exception, there are no residences nearer than three quarters of a mile. This difficulty is one of the sad results of the iniquitous Hawkins trial against the Picayune, of which Col Rhett is editor. In his speech for the prosecution Judge Cooley made reflections upon that paper which called forth an editorial in its next issue, pronouncing them false. Judge Cooley then addressed a communication to the editor calling for explanations, which not being accorded, he followed it up by a published card assailing Col. Rhett. A challenge promptly followed and the result is now before our readers. Judge W. H. Cooley was born in Pointe Coupee, and was the son of Judge Thos. J. Cooley, his mother being a Ledoux, also of the parish of Pointe Coupee. He was educated and graduated in the Academic Department of Transylvania University of Kentucky in 1847, in the same year and at the same institution where Governor Voorhies graduated in law. He was subsequently appointed Parish Judge of Pointe Coupee by Michael Hahn. The first appearance of Judge Cooley prominently before the New Orleans public was as a representative from Pointe Coupee in the Reconstruction Convention which sat at Mechanics' Institute, in which he took a leading part. When the reconstruction election took place, Judge Cooley, having selected New Orleans as his residence, was nominated by the Democracy as their candidate for the Judgeship of the Sixth District Court of the city, to which position he was elected and which he maintained until the recent election, when he declined submitting his name before the Convention. At the time of his death Judge Cooley was about forty-seven years of age. Judge Cooley was a widower, having married a Miss Plantirugne, who died about four years ago. His only child is now about ten or twelve years old. His father, Judge Thomas J. Cooley, and his two brothers, James and Thomas, are well known to the legal fraternity and officers of the Court. He was a man of extraordinary natural abilities, and what he knew either of law or language came to him as it were by intuition. His mind, while it was easily warped by passion or prejudice, was exceedingly analytical, and in cases where neither personal feeling nor party animosities interfered to cloud his judgment, his decisions were almost always critically correct. With an inexhaustible fund of humor, a keen sense of the ridiculous, and being an adept in the use of satire, he was at once a warm friend and bitter enemy. This is not the first duel in which he has been concerned. Some years before the war he met Dr. Kaufman, one of his parishoners, upon the field of honor, and after an exchange of shots an amicable adjustment of the difficulty was made, and thereafter the parties became warm personal friends. He had a supreme contempt for shams, and was fond of launching the arrows of wit and sarcasm against all manner of hypocrisy. He had a religion and a code of morals peculiarly his own, and with all his eccentricities was a man of liberal ideas and warm impulses. The body was brought to this city on the evening train.

FROM KANAWHA, W. VA.

Kanawha Coal Field—Extent, Variety and Value—Development—The Iron District, &c., &c.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Commercial.

KANAWHA FALLS, W. VA., June 21, 1873.

I promised to write you from this interesting part of the Young Dominion, and embrace a few moments leisure to address some jottings for the great Kanawha coal field.

Nothing could interest a practical coal or iron operator more than a visit to this remarkable region. It is surprising that not more of your sagacious business men have not looked into this fine valley. Some heavy capitalists from the head of the Ohio have been here, and invested largely; others, I understand, are coming. This is certainly the field for profitable coal operations. I have been for weeks examining this extraordinary field, and have no hesitancy in pronouncing it the finest, most varied and valuable coal district in the United States. Mines of six, seven, eight and nine feet are common—splint and bituminous coals—and generally half a dozen worked seams occur in the same mountain. I write significantly, as the great mountain ranges are cut into sharp, well-defined bodies, the eye taking in half a dozen, looking up and down the rivers, within the space of a mile. The geological features are interesting. The disturbing has been violent, and separation of strata sharply marked. Coal areas all through the Kanawha and subordinate valleys, from Big Sciota to Coal Mountain, and even beyond. Its finest development, however, may be said to exist from Loup creek to Campbell creek, northeasterly and southwesterly. Within this limit, at least, the best developments have been made. This does not, however, limit even the finest coal measures. Some recent discoveries demonstrated that other localities to which I may refer in another letter, are peculiarly rich in deposits of mineral coals. Three varieties occur within the zone indicated—cannel, splint, bituminous. The celebrated Stockton cannel, the first coal attracting special attention in this valley, is at Cannelton, nine miles below the falls. The late Col. A. Stockton, who owned thousands of acres, including the falls, was the first to develop this fine coal. The Cannelton Company, chiefly owned in New York, are operating the mines very successfully, sending large quantities to market. The mineral is equal to the Peytonia cannel, and both fully up to the standard claimed for the best English cannel. The seam now worked is forty-two inches. It is a superior gas and parlor fuel, and ranks high in the Eastern markets. This fine coal is a jet black, except when subjected to clay washings, is compact, and breaks with a clear conchoidal fracture. It can be taken to New York and sold at a profit at $11 per ton, against $22 for English cannel. Cannel is found in most of the central coal fields.

Splint is perhaps the most valuable coal produced in the country. It derives its name from the splinty fracture with which it separates. It is a compact, firm and laminated coal, lasting, and its chief value is comparative freedom from sulphur, which enables it to be used in smelting ores, or the manufacture of iron and steel. This valuable mineral abounds in this part of the Kanawha coal field. Extensive mines are in operation, that of Col. Edwards, at Coal Bay—the Kanawha and Ohio Coal Company—mining about 200,000 bushels per month.

Splint must become a complete substitute for charcoal in the manufacture of iron and steel. In the Bessemer furnace we witness its highest triumph. The abundance of this superior mineral promises a great future for West Virginia. With ores from the Alleghenies, Botetourt, Allegheny, Augusta, and other counties, and the splint coal of Kanawha, what is to prevent Virginia—East and West—from taking high rank in the sisterhood of States? Careful estimates show that the hematite ores from the Allegheny region can be brought to the splint coal of the Kanawha and pig iron manufactured at from $18 to $21, against $32 to $35 at Pittsburgh, Allentown, &c. Why should not Pittsburgh manufacturers have their furnaces here, and supply their mills from this valley? Experienced iron operators give the opinion that pig iron can be turned out here for little more than the ore will cost you net from Missouri and Superior. These facts should certainly commend them to the earnest and careful attention of all practical men.

The bituminous coal of this extensive field is of excellent quality, and well adapted to the Southwestern market for ordinary manufactures and domestic uses. Some shrewd Pittsburgh coal men have been looking into the business. It has been ascertained that coal can be taken from the Kanawha and subordinate valleys, to Cincinnati and the Southwest, and sold at a direct profit, at about the price it can be placed in barges at Pittsburgh.

I will have something further to say of the mineral wealth of this valley, in another letter, also, of the iron district. VIATOR.

Coal-Cutting Machines.

Considerable interest has been excited in England by the exhibition of several coal-cutting machines at the Exposition of Industry in Wigan. It is said that these machines, although not altogether satisfactory, encourage the hope that the working of mines is entering upon a new phase of development. There are several coal-cutting machines exhibited which are of proved merit. The newest are Gillott and Copley's rotary coal-cutter and Hard and Simpson's self-actor. The motive power in both instances is supplied by compressed air, which at present seems to be the only force that can be advantageously employed in the peculiar circumstances of the application of these machines. The former appears to possess the advantages which it claims of simplicity of construction, combined with strength and durability—essential requisites in the rough work for which the machine is destined. It requires no special fixing of train rails. Its other recommendations are regularity and rapidity in the performance of its work, and economy of force in working it. The other machine claims to be equally serviceable, and is adapted for right or left hand work for from 18 inch seems upwards, and for under-cutting and squarring up endings or rough work, from 3 feet drifts up to 5 or more. These machines are low iron frames, each fitted with a powerful wheel rotating horizontally, which projects a little beyond the frame. Each wheel is fitted on its outer or cutting edge with a series of strong spikes or teeth, which make the first incision in the coal-face. In the one case the rotating wheel is fixed, while in the other an advantage appears to have been gained by placing the wheel on a pivot, and thus by a simple arrangement it may be directed by the man in charge so as to cut at any angle. These machines are comparatively novel in the district, and another which has been successfully tested in the district holds, not undeservedly, the position of established favorite. Winstanley and Baker's implement for "holing" in mines, worked on the long wall system, is already at work satisfactorily in several important collieries in South Lancashire, and has been found easily applicable in narrow seams. Another invention, which is of great importance, as enabling colliery owners more readily to meet the requirements of the new act in regard to the weighing of coal, is a self-indicating pitbank weighing machine and turntable combined, which is fitted with a taring arrangement, so that the net contents only of the passing coaltub is instantaneously indicated on the dial. A local paper states that 50 of these machines have been ordered by the Wigan Coal and Iron Company for use at their collieries.

The Supervisors of Wafello county, Iowa, have returned to Congressman Walden $339 50, which he recently sent to them out of his back pay.

WASHINGTON.

Freedman's Bureau Irregularities.

Culpable Negligence Somewhere.

Beginning of the Fiscal Year.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1873.

Freedman's Bureau Troubles.

The Attorney General has still under consideration the letter of the Secretary of War in regard to the case of General Howard. It is understood that this letter refers principally to the question of Gen. Howard's responsibility for the acts of his subordinates, and requests the opinion of the Attorney General as to the proper course to be pursued in the investigation of the transactions against which there are allegations of irregularities. The law of 1865, establishing the Freedman's Bureau, requires the Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner to give bonds respectively in the sum of fifty and ten thousand dollars. Now, it appears from the bond found in the office of the Second Comptroller and sent to the Attorney General that the security given by Gen. Howard was but ten thousand dollars. The bond dates in 1871, after all the heavy disbursements had been made. Gen. Howard's explanation of the absence of any bond prior to 1871 does not answer the explicit provisions of the law, and the statement that Secretary Stanton told him it would not be necessary to give bond as acting Commissioner has only the General's own words as evidence. It now appears that there was a serious misapplication of the funds placed at the disposal of the Freedman's Bureau, and the object of the proposed investigation is to learn upon whom rests the responsibility of this culpable negligence of official duty. It is stated in the Treasury Department that the rank of General Howard in the army did not exempt him, while holding the post of Commissioner, from the effect of the provisions of the law requiring bonds to be given. The Attorney General, in conversation to-day, remarked that his decision would not be ready for several days.

War Department Records.

Nothing has been discovered in the files of the War Department to substantiate the allegations that any papers have been abstracted, except those relating to an entirely different matter, and reported missing some time ago.

Government Wheels Lubricated.

The new fiscal year having commenced to-day, the appropriations for the year ending June 30th, 1874, are available, and the circulation of government lucre goes on as briskly as ever. To-day the Fifth Auditor paid out to railroad companies and western contractors alone over one million dollars for the transportation of the mails for the last quarter. The Government printing office and bindery has also resumed operations with their full force of employees, and works on full time, which will be necessary to furnish the documents ordered and required before Congress meets, in December.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1, 1873.

PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT.

President Grant has issued a proclamation, announcing that he has received official notification that the British and Dominion Parliaments have adopted the necessary legislation preliminary to those portions of the Treaty of Washington pertaining to fisheries and to the relations between the United States and the Dominion, going into effect, and that consequently they are now in full operation.

THE ABOLISHED FRANKING PRIVILEGE.

The law abolishing the franking privilege having gone into effect to-day, the several departments have detailed men especially to attach stamps to official documents, all of which have previously to be weighed. Balances for these purposes are being supplied to all bureaus and divisions. Five clerks are now required to affix stamps to the dead letter mail each day, one clerk formerly having been sufficient for franking. The clerks of the city postoffice complain of the additional labor imposed by the weighing of public documents before mailing to ascertain whether the stamps are sufficient to cover the postage.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER,
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2, 1 A. M.

PROBABILITIES FOR TO-DAY.

FIRE RECORD.

Fire at Farwell, Mich.—Loss $58,000.

DETROIT, MICH., July 1.—A fire at Farwell this afternoon destroyed Linton's steam saw mill with lumber belonging to Curtis & Ressinger and Ressinger, Pitcher & Co. Loss on mill $20,000; insurance, $10,000. Loss on lumber $35,000; insurance $5,000. D. C. Chadwick loses $3,000 on stave and heading mill; no insurance.

Funeral Obsequies of Jesse R. Grant.

CINCINNATI, O., July 1.—There was a very large attendance at the funeral of Jesse R. Grant, at the Union Methodist Episcopal church, Covington, Ky., to-day. A large number accompanied the corpse to the grave, at Spring Grove Cemetery. Rev. J. S. Chadwick preached the funeral sermon. President Grant, Orville Grant and Mrs. Kramer were the children of the deceased who were present.

STATE NEWS.

Wille Louise de Gluemer, for several years teacher of German and French in the Reading high school, fell dead in Washington city, a few days since.

A Berks county man killed a black snake measuring sixteen feet in length and eighteen inches in circumference. That's a whopper—the snake, we mean.

There appeared in the obituary columns of the Philadelphia Ledger, last week, notices of the deaths of ten persons, three men and seven women, who had lived beyond the advanced age of eighty years, to wit: Mary Bush, aged 81; William Lawson, 82; Laurette T. Morrell, 82; Matilda B. Scarlett, 84; Margaret Gillespie, 85; Mary O'Byrne, 85; Timothy Kelly, 85; Martha Rudolph, 86; Elizabeth Whitcomb, 91, and Edward Nilan, 92.

The Governor has appointed J. O. Marshall, of Millerstown, Butler county, and Wallace Martin, of Parker City, Armstrong county, Notaries Public for a term of three years.

The Bloomsburg Columbian is responsible for the following: An up-creek preacher whilst holding service recently, gave thanks, in a fervent prayer for the prosperous condition of their crops, "excepting, Oh Lord, the corn, which is backward, and the oats, which are mighty thin in spots."

The funded debt of the city of Philadelphia on the 1st of January, 1873, as shown by the message of the Mayor sent to Councils Thursday, was $48,405,941, and the total liabilities to the same time were $53,634,479. The increase in the year 1872 was $4,867,000.

Abraham Lincoln Matier, aged about eleven years, was drowned in a pond at Chestnut Hill ore banks, in Lancaster county, on Sunday, while bathing.

The Governor has appointed Daniel Weaks, of Erie, Sealer of Weights and Measures for that county.

Altoona has just had a fatal case of the epizootic.

The West Chester Village Record says: An Indian, named Richard Komes, for three years a student at Lincoln University, Chester county, has been selected as interpreter to Major Powell, and he starts immediately for Utah, to assume the duties of his appointment. He has a brother who is a chief of an important Indian tribe. He left the institute on Wednesday evening last.

Says the Allentown Chronicle: One night last week, Mr. Monroe Peters, of Washington township, while sleeping, was suddenly awakened by fierce shrieks from his little baby, a couple of weeks old. Its cries also alarmed his drughter, and both answered its summons, when to their horror a huge rat was found gnawing the little one's fingers. The daughter, in attempting to chase the intruder, was severely bitten by the blood-thirsty animal, but succeeded, when it took quarters in the garret. In a few minutes the rat was heard gnawing at the garret door in order to effect an escape and renew its attack, but an application of broom stick was made and a battle begun which ended in victory for the broom stick.

The Grand Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen is to hold its annual session in Erie on Tuesday next, 8th inst.

The insurance agents of Philadelphia have united in a letter to Mayor Stokely asking that the fire cracker and torpedo nuisances may be abated on the Fourth of July, an account of the danger of starting fires.

Unicume, the Venango county man who swindled so many farmers, has written a letter to a friend there, stating very coolly that he found himself too deeply involved to ever hope for extrication, and took the shortest possible way to raise the means to enable him to go into business elsewhere; that he is on his way to Texas, where expects to make a fortune: that he will eventually pay every dollar of his indebtedness in Venango county, but that any of his creditors who attempt to molest him will never get a cent. That's refreshingly cool, considering the altitude of the mercury.

Bankrupt Sale of Watches.

Among the regular business of New York, of the mock auction style, says the correspondent of the Boston Journal is the selling out of a bankrupt stock of watches. These sales are carried on from week to week. It is a regular business, and the watches sold are manufactured expressly for the market. Immense numbers are sold, and all above a dollar is profit. These watches are not exactly a fraud, but they come very near it. The waste stock and refuse of manufactories are purchased. Men scour the European cities and buy the material, and this is put together, and really makes a passable watch. The workmanship is rough and coarse, but makes a cheap timepiece. These watches are manufactured in immense numbers, and are put together as men duplicate a locomotive. It is said full 10,000 of this style of watch are sold in this city during the year. The refuse material bears the name of the factory from whence it comes, so that the announcement of the bankrupt sale of the different manufactories is not wholly a fraud. Men get quite a bargain at a very low figure. The whole of this business is in the hands of a single firm. The head of the house is said to have made a million in that trade during the last two years.

Yambill county, Oregon, produces strawberrie four inches in circumference.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

Judiciary Article.

The Constitutional Convention was occupied Monday afternoon in considering, on second reading, the article on the judiciary, and disposed of the first nine sections. The only material amendment adopted was one extending original jurisdiction to the Supreme Court in cases of injunction, where a corporation is defendant. The section providing for four Common Pleas Courts of Philadelphia, of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three Judges each, with such an increase of these Courts as the Legislature may provide, was discussed, together with an amendment continuing the Common Pleas and District Courts as at present, providing for Court stenographers, &c. The amendment was rejected, and the section agreed to as reported. The sections providing for one Prothonotary's office and one Prothonotary for all said Courts, and requiring one or more of the Judges to be detailed from time to time to hold Criminal Court, and regulate the jurisdiction of the Court of Common Pleas throughout the State, were agreed to as passed in Committee of the Whole.

Yesterday forenoon the tenth section was considered: "In every criminal case the accused as well as the Commonwealth may remove the indictment record and all proceedings to the Supreme Court for review, in the same manner as civil cases are now removed and received; but such removal shall not, except in capital cases, be a supersedeas, unless the Judge before whom the case was tried shall certify the same is a proper one for review." A number of amendments were offered and rejected, and finally the section was lost.

POLITICAL.

State.

Following is the Republican ticket put up by Erie county: For Assembly, E. H. Wilcox, of Washington, Henry Butterfield, of Erie; Sheriff, J. L. Hyner, of Waterford; Clerk of the Courts, C. L. Pierce, of Erie; Commissioner, M. H. Silverthorn, of Fairview; Director of the Poor, James Dunn, of McKean; Jury Commissioner, William Grant, of McKean; Auditor, W. W. Thomas, of Erie; Trustees of Erie Academy, Samuel Rea, Jr., Albert Gunnison, W. L. Cleveland.

The Sunday papers of Philadelphia are well satisfied with the Republican nominations. The Republic says: "The principal nominations of Tuesday give general satisfaction, and their endorsement by the press generally, with the exception of the Democratic organ, makes their success even more certain than it otherwise would be. It seems to be conceded that there will be three tickets in the field in October, but all the efforts and mendacious statements of the Reformers, who, it is evident, cannot wage an honorable warfare, and the opposition of the Democracy, will avail nothing against such a ticket as the Republican party has presented for the acceptance of the voters of the city. The quintette selected for the prominent offices cannot be equalled, much less surpassed, by any similar number that either of our rivals, if they can be considered rivals, can nominate, and whether we take Elliott, Widener, Clark, Ellis or Smith, he presents qualifications and claims such as Democratic followers and sycophants may envy but cannot approximate."

This from the Times: "On the whole, the city ticket is a good one, and will receive the unanimous support of the Republican party, and of many "independent" voters, who aim to support the best men for local officers. Its success is certain, for the opposition are demoralized and divided among themselves, and a party in that condition cannot count upon victory."

The Transcript pronounces the city and county Republican ticket an unusually formidable one. The Legislative nominations it promises to deal with "in due season."

Of the result in Erie county the Dispatch says: "I have been familiarly acquainted with the men nominated for office in this county for the past thirty years," said an intelligent observer after the adjournment of the Convention yesterday, "and I have never seen better material brought before its nominating conventions than was offered to-day." This sentiment prevails very generally among Republicans whose opinions have been expressed. The party has been fortunate in its candidates, fortunate in the warm interest that has been taken in the contest, and fortunate in the election of the solid and substantial men that composed the Convention. The result is that we have a ticket in all respects worthy of support. The men nominated are all well fitted to discharge the duties of the offices for which they are named, and will do credit to themselves and the party when they are elected. The candidates are all men of recognized character and ability, having had large and varied experience in their several lines of duty, and their triumphant election is a matter concerning which there can be no doubt.

Ohio.

MANSFIELD, O., July 1, 1873.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

GEN. BRINKERHOFF CALLS A LIBERAL REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

Gen. Brinkerhoff, Chairman of the Liberal Republican State Central Committee, has issued call for a State Convention, to be held at Columbus, on Wednesday, July 30th, 1873. The call invites all who are with the Liberals in principle, without regard to past political antecedents, including with evident satisfaction the "new departure" democrats of Allen and Hamilton counties, as well as certain Republicans of Logan county, and the farmers and workingmen's conventions in various parts of the State, who have shown sympathy with the movements for political reform, to appoint delegates to the Convention. A meeting will be held for the purpose of consultation, co-operation and union with all others who may be willing to unite for the overthrow of the party now in power in the State and nation, and for the removal of what is styled "the appalling corruptions and abuses which threaten the very life of the republic." It is to be a mass convention, and no limitation is made as to the number of delegates to be sent; but it is recommended that the Liberal Republicans of the several counties be represented by at least one delegate for every five hundred votes cast for Greeley for President.

General.

"The Allen county motion," says the Cincinnati Enquirer, "may be said to have failed for want of a second."

If so soon I am to be done for,
I wonder what I was begun for.

A Democratic paper publishes with much apparent satisfaction an announcement to the effect that the people of Louisiana intend to appeal to France for assistance against the United States government. "If," it says, "MacMahon be imbued with ordinary ambition, the appeal of Louisiana will have patient and careful consideration." We do not know what the President of the French Republic may be imbued with, but it seems pretty clear that the organs of the Democrats are not imbued with common sense.—N. Y. Times.

The Democratic politicians who inaugurated that new departure and started the ball to rolling up in Allen county, must be a little disconcerted at the opposition which begins to crop out among the rank and file of the party. Some of the leading Democratic journals pronounce it one of Cunningham's foolish moves, and others refer to the disastrous results attending former departures from the old land marks of the party. These are very discouraging circumstances, since a movement of this kind must be general and enthusiastic to acquire strength or even to maintain an existence. Had the leaders in the movement boldly stepped into the breach and unsheathed their swords, success might have crowned their scheme; but they have played the part of sneaks, and the people never follow that class of leaders.—Toledo Blade.

The Minneapolis (Minn.) Tribune, speaking of the movement of the Allen county, Ohio, Democracy to get rid of their dishonored political name, says: Still, still, the Democratic party is doing its utmost to get rid of the taint of its name. It has really repudiated its old deeds, but it cannot get away from its old name—the badge and symbol of its profligacy. It takes a snake some weeks to shed its coat in spring, and it sometimes wriggles painfully about with the cast-off skin clinging to its tail—an old, dead bit of broken shell, good for nothing for its occupant, yet it refuses to be cast off! It is just so with the pestilent name "Democracy" which a great party degraded, and which now clings to it like a blighting shadow—sticks to it like the shirt of Nessus—sticks to it like the curse of Elisha to his servant Gehazi.

Hon. R. R. Sloan refuses again to be the Ohio Democrats' candidate for Lieutenant Governor on account of private business engagements.

Judge Underwood, of Virginia, has written a letter to a friend in that State in favor of the nomination of Henry A. Wise by the Republicans for Governor. He says that when Wise drove him from his home and property in 1859 he thought he could never forgive him. He has learned since, he says, to respect his enemy for his fidelity to his own convictions, as well as for great services he has rendered to the cause of popular education and government, and can never forget that he was the champion of the extension of the elective franchise to poor white men in Virginia some twenty-five years ago, without distinction of creed, or condition, or place of birth. Judge U. says that he further knows that he is hereafter equally determined to preserve the same franchise to all men in the State. He attributes the Republican victory in Virginia last fall to Henry A. Wise, and says:

"As well might the first Christians have refused to recognize the natural leadership of Paul because he had been a persecuting Saul, as for us to object to men because they once opposed us. The same folly would have withheld from the world the services of many of the noblest reformers in every age from St. Paul to Martin Luther, and from Martin Luther to Henry A. Wise."

When a clergyman assumes to be witty it is to serve a purpose, and that is the case with a Baltimore divine, who writes to a friend concerning the frequency of fires in Boston as follows: "In the rapid whirl of events, the motion of the universe becomeing accelerated, the hub is evidently overheated by friction; hence the numerous conflagrations."

A "Slight" Difference.

A banker in this city, in talking about Northern Pacific bonds, remarked that he believed that as an investment they would net more to the holder, at the end of thirty years, than government bonds at their present price, even if Northern Pacific at that time were worth only fifty cents on the dollar. Curiosity led us to figure out the problem, and we find that his opinion is more than true. So much does a difference of one and three-tenths per cent., compound interest, make in that time that the Northern Pacifics net twice as much as governments, and the holder could afford to lose his principal entirely so far as the relative profit is concerned. Governments at 118, it must be borne in mind, net only about five per cent., gold, while Northern Pacifics pay 7 3-10 gold. Northern Pacific bonds, however, secured, as they are, by an immense land grant, in a region agriculturally very rich, are not likely to fall fifty cents on the dollar or anything like it. The demand for the bonds by the purchasers of lands, to be used in paying for their lands, are more likely to force them above par, since to the purchasers they are worth 110 when used for that purpose. As a permanent and profitable investment there are no bonds in the market so desirable, and no bonds, except governments, have had so popular a demand.

BEAVER COMMENCEMENT.

Annual Concert—New Hall—Presentation to Prof. Beuter—Dedication Addresses—Bishop Simpson—Corporators' Meeting—Visitors.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Commercial.

BEAVER, PA., July 1, 1873.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the evening, a large audience collected at the new and beautiful hall of the College for the Alumni concert. Never did the fine Chickering Grand, kept by the institution for such occasions, speak more thrillingly than from its new position on the Hall stage. The acoustic properties of the room are demonstrated to be all that could be desired. But one thing seemed lacking, and that was the gas light; but even this defect is soon to be remedied, as the pipe has been put in the new building and a favorable opportunity is only awaited for putting in the machine.

The opening piece, a piano duett, La Balladine, by Lysberg, was executed capitally by Miss Morton, of Ashtabula, O., and by Miss Loomis, of Meadville. The quartette, "Wandering Minstrels," by Messrs. Putney and Wilson and Misses Young and Howell, was well received and exhibited careful attention to expression so often overlooked by young singers. Piano solo, by Miss Vesta Miller, of New Brighton, the "March of the Archers" was the third piece on the programme, and showed real taste in her execution. Miss Maggie Howell, of Bridgeport, Ohio, sung "Home Bound Sails," which she was requested to repeat later in the evening. A transcription from Spindler, by Miss Amanda Augustine, of Addison, was enthusiastically received. This lady has evidently much of the Professor's style and touch. Miss Patterson, of Bridgeport, Ohio, sung "Forever," and being encored, sung with much expression and pathos, "Sweet Spirit, Hear My Prayer." The closing, and of course the crowning piece of the first part, "Fantasia on Martha," by Lysberg, was performed by Prof. Beuter. It was the unanimous opinion of the numerous visitors from the city, accustomed to attend the concerts given by star performers, that they rarely hear the Professor's playing excelled. He was, of course, encored. Piano duet, Fantasia Dramatique, L'Esird Armor, by Vilbac, was given by Prof. Beuter and wife, which was followed by the quartette, who gave "Ever True" in a highly satisfactory manner. The vocal solo, "Poor Though My Cot Be," was sung in a very effective manner by Miss Lide French, the accomplished assistant in the vocal department. Her encore piece was warmly received. Miss F. has the advantage before a popular audience in her distinct articulation. Robert le Diable Fantasia (Smith), by Miss Eva Loomis, was very satisfactorily executed, showing much appreciation of the sentiment and great delicacy of touch. "The Wild Flowers"—Donizetti, was sung with much purity of tone by Miss Mary Young, of Monongahela City, who, being encored, sung a sprightly melody that greatly delighted the audience. The closing piece was a piano solo, "Midsummer Night's Dream"—Fantasia, performed by Miss Nannie Holmes, daughter of Rev. C. A. Holmes, of Allegheny City.

A pleasant episode occurred at this time. Dr. Taylor, bearing a beautiful ice pitcher, stepped upon the platform and in a humorous manner presented it, on behalf of the young ladies, to Professor Beuter, for five years the principal of the musical department. This was received in behalf of Professor Beuter by J. F. Dravo, Esq., with some very appropriate remarks.

The dedication of College Hall brought together a large concourse of people from the villages, cities and country at ten o'clock. The choir sang three stirring anthems. Rev. Dr. Hunter, of the Advocate, led in prayer, and J. F. Dravo, the President of the meeting, after some introductory remarks, formally presented the building to Bishop Simpson, for dedication. The Bishop asked the audience to repeat with him a very appropriate formula of dedication, after which he delivered one of his inimitable addresses. The Alumnæ then contributed nearly a thousand dollars toward the fitting and furnishing of the Hall. More than fifty clergymen were present, of various denominations, to participate in the exercises. This Commencement marks an era in the history of the institution and the period—it must take a new departure.

The Commencement exercises proper, and the President's reception are to occur to-night. XI.

FROM MEADVILLE.

Fifty-Seventh Anniversary of Allegheny College.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Commercial.

MEADVILLE, PA., June 27, 1873.

The "great event" in our beautiful little city this week, has been our "College Commencement," and the exercises which preceded it. The weather was beautiful, made up of bright sunshine and refreshing breezes. On last Sabbath morning the Baccalaureate sermon was preached by the Rev. George Loomis, D. D., the able and efficient President of the college. Like all the Doctor's productions, it was sound, solid and instructive; and it is hoped the young men will not soon forget its wholesome lessons. During its delivery an incident occurred full of poetry, and suggestive of pleasant thought. Twice a dove flew in at the west window, nearest the platform, and lit upon the capital of the column immediately to the left and a little in the rear of the speaker; and once it flew in at the east window, hovered a moment on poised wing, over the audience, and then flew out at the west window. In the times of our fathers this would have been esteemed an omen of favor to old Allegheny, and I am not altogether so free from their notions as not to hope it will prove the sure harbinger of a future of harmony and accord among all the authorities of the College, in efforts for her advancement. The examinations continued through Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and were creditable to the several classes. Thursday was "Commencement Day" proper. The graduating class consisted of fourteen young gentlemen and one young lady. It was more than an average class. The young gentlemen acquitted themselves well. Special praise was bestowed upon George J. Wolf, of Allegheny City, for the matter of his valedictory and the manner of its delivery. But the great event of the occasion was the conferring of the degree of "Bachelor of Arts" upon Miss Ellen D. Nash, of Meadville, who has the well earned honor of being the first lady graduate of Allegheny College. When she came upon the platform she was welcomed with hearty applause. Her subject was "The Silent," which she treated in a manner that showed much study and reflection in its preparation. In purity of style, and poetic beauty of language, her essay was not excelled, if equaled, by any in the class. Her manner was modest and self-possessed; her voice, soft and musical, was yet sufficiently full to be distinctly heard by the hundreds who listened to her reading with rapt attention. As she took her seat, she was showered with boquets and cards of congratulation. We were the more pleased with her success because it marks an era in the history of the college. Many of its warmest and oldest friends had opposed the opening of its doors to the graduation of young ladies, but they yielded to the progressive ideas of the day, and Allegheny College now welcomes them to her halls. ADAPTED TO ALL CLIMATES.—Certain it is that Pearl Wheat is rapidly displacing and sweeping out of existence the exciting and dangerous nostrums used in the practice of medicine as an antidote for dyspepsia. This is on account of its adaptability to all systems and all climates.

P. T. Barnum to the Public.

A rumor—originating with, and industriously circulated by unscrupulous showmen—having gained some credence, that I would divide my Great Traveling Exhibition on leaving Boston, I beg to state that such an idea has never been entertained for a moment. The vast enterprise—involving a cost of one million five hundred thousand dollars—is the crowning event of my managerial life, and, although acting against the advice of many experienced showmen, I shall adhere to my determination to keep the monster combination intact during the entire season. The public's obedient servant,

D* P. T. BARNUM.

Strawberry Short Cake.

Take one pound of flour, mix well through it one and a half measures Banner Baking Powder, and two teaspoonfuls salt; then rub in one-half pound shortening, and with a spoon one-half pint sweet milk; bake in jelly cake pans. When cold and just before eating, place in layers, covering each one with strawberries which have previously been sugared.

Each can of Banner Baking Powder contains a small measure (to be used even full), and a valuable list of recipes. Try it once, and you will never use any other.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE

On 30 Days' Trial,

With strength and capacity equal to any, regardless of cost. This Machine does away with all complications, and with the movement of ONLY TWO PARTS (the Needle Arm and Looper), both simple and strong, it makes the Stitch, feeds the Goods, half guides the Cloth, fastens the Seams, sews on Braid, Gathers and Tucks, Hems and Embroiders. REMEMBER, the movement of only two parts does all this, which entirely does away with all the complications so liable to get out of order, and so often the source of annoyance to the operator, besides the ruinous expenditure of force in propelling them. Our Semi-Guiding Feed requires the assistance of only one hand or even one finger, thus leaving the right hand entirely at liberty to ply the wheel, which runs easy and even as a well balanced wheel, with

WEDNESDAY, JULY 2, 1873.

THE sensation stories about the disappearances of valuable war papers from the War Department, turn out, as might have been expected, to be false. There are no papers missing. The correction, however, will never overtake the lie. The Democratic papers took hold of it, at first, eagerly, as a good card, and they will keep it going, now, the same as if true.

THAT excellent newspaper, the New York Times, appeared on Monday in a complete new outfit of type. Handsome as any of its city contemporaries before, it now surpasses them all in neatness of general appearance. It is announced that at no time in the history of the paper was it in the enjoyment of such prosperity as now, which it gives us pleasure to hear. In addition to new type, new English presses have been procured, and new and improved machinery introduced.

GRACE GREENWOOD, in her Washington letter to the New York Times, refers thus to the Miss ANTHONY case, and we fully concur in what she says:

"I have never believed with Miss Anthony that the Fourteenth amendment was going to help us. I have never accepted certain other of her theories; but I believe in and accept her, as a woman of intense convictions, of high courage and constancy; and I don't like to hear her ridiculed and abused. If anything can make me think meanly of my young brothers of the press, it is the way they pelt and pester Susan B. Anthony. For shame, boys! Never a one of you will make the man she is."

JUDGE BLACK made his speech (he has but one) on his Constitutional hobby, that of requiring legislators to be sworn that they will behave honestly, before they begin their work, and also after they are through that they have behaved honestly. The Washington Chronicle expresses its regret that this plan had not been adopted in time to apply it to JEREMIAH himself, and to his associates at both ends of the BUCHANAN administration. Possibly it would have prevented the rebellion which they unhappily inaugurated.

ONE J. G. BLAIR, of Missouri, who voted in Congress for and took the extra pay, justifies himself on the ground, first, that it couldn't have been a "steal," or the newspapers would have got their share of it; and second, the passage of the bill for increased pay must have been fore-ordained, or it would not have passed, and therefore it must be right. This fellow may be among the elect, to Congress, but his election does not extend any farther; and he will find out to his sorrow, in the end, what he has been fore-ordained to.

THE Philadelphia Dawn, which gave one of our Allegheny county Judges as authority for its story of a coalition to control the Republican State nominations, says that as we have denied its allegations, we are bound to prove their falsity. Men are not called on to prove negatives. When it produces any evidence of its bare-faced lie, we will disprove its evidence. Its only witness, so far, is not merely anonymous, but dumb. If he, whoever he may be, will pluck up courage enough to speak, and tell us what he is alleged to know, we will pay him prompt attention.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN SAVED FROM HIS FRIENDS.

In Scribner's Magazine for July the article certain to prove most widely interesting is a paper by the Rev. JAMES A. REED, of Springfield, Illinois, on "The Later Life and Religious Sentiments of ABRAHAM LINCOLN." It, of course, relates to those gross and perhaps unintentionally malignant libels in the form of memoirs, biographical sketches, and personal recollections, of which the illustrious President has been made the subject since his death. Dr. JOHNSON, learning that a certain one of his intimate associates was collecting materials for a history of his "Life," is reported to have said to him, with more than ordinary emphasis: "Sir, if I thought you intended to write my life I would verily take yours." Even if Mr. LINCOLN could have foreseen the biographical labors of the HERNDONS and the LAMONS, there is no reason to suppose that he would have either expressed or meditated any purpose so violent and decisive, but we cannot doubt that the natural gloom of his spirit would have been much deepened by the dreadful anticipation. Such, however, was the benevolence of his disposition that, after due reflection he might possibly have felt, at least in some degree, reconciled to the terrible posthumous infliction, by forecasting the delight which those obscure friends of his early manhood would derive from their accidental notoriety.

Probably no life of an eminent man ever offered a broader or more tempting field for small biographers to expatiate in than the life of LINCOLN. Popular interest in his career was intense, and curiosity, especially respecting his ante-official life, had been raised to a very high pitch. However well known as a politician, he was much less familiarly known in the details of his life than Presidents, or even candidates for the Presidency, usually are. Outside of Illinois, at any rate on the eastern side of the Allegheny mountains, when Mr. LINCOLN entered upon the duties of his high office he was known almost exclusively as a politician. We need hardly say that such general statements as that he had been a "rail-splitter" or "boatman," conveyed no positive or satisfactory information to people in the East, or even to the younger generation of the West. To some of them the statements may have seemed mere electioneering bams, giving no hint of the social, moral and intellectual conditions implied in their meaning. To the designation of "backwoods-lawyer" persons ignorant of the state of society on the Western frontier thirty or forty years ago attached no idea corresponding nearly with the reality. Then, during Mr. LINCOLN's Presidency the excitement and anxiety of civil war left no leisure and slight inclination for such inquiries into the biography of the Chief Magistrate as, in time of peace, would have poured a flood of light upon his entire career from the cradle. In the North statements, whether true or false, designed to render the President an object of hatred or contempt were at once rejected as "Confederate lies." Hence, when the great popular leader was suddenly stricken down amidst the rejoicings of the nation over the restored Union, and he was generally regarded as the glorious martyr of the cause, his memory was invested in the popular imagination with whatever qualities seemed to it most worthy of so wonderful a destiny. And the mythical tendency of the imagination was powerfully aided by plain facts. The people remembered his patriotism and sublime abnegation of self, in the strength of which he had borne reproach and misconstruction in silence rather than sanction explanations which might weaken the government or strengthen the enemy; they called to mind his heroic patience, his native liberality and generosity, and all the worthy traits which had been only in part understood and appreciated while he was alive. Religious people recalled with especial satisfaction the fervently devout, often scriptural, language which had appeared most fitly to express the emotions of the great leader under the afflictions of life and under the burdens and trials of his official position, and thus the feelings which in a Pagan age used to prompt the apotheosis of a departed ruler, strongly tended in this Christian time and country to recognize LINCOLN as a saint.

To a certain class of Mr. LINCOLN's early associates the temptation was therefore very strong to present his character in a novel and startling light, and to shock people's sensibilities by alleging that they wholly misunderstood the object of their admiration and reverence. A genuine democrat in the good sense of the word, and a sincere lover of his kind, Mr. LINCOLN as he rose in the world never forgot or shook off the humble friends and associates whom he surpassed. Hence they never ceased to feel their claim to a certain companionship with him while he lived, and in the endeavor of some of them, since his death, to cast the light of their intelligence upon his youth, they have not made more manifest the obscurity of his early circumstances than their own inability to comprehend his intellectual and spiritual growth. They, however, for the most part seek to tell the truth, and in their crude reports traits are disclosed sufficient to show that even amidst the sordid surroundings of his youth and early manhood, ABRAHAM LINCOLN was marked by essentially the same qualities which he afterwards so splendidly exemplified.

The charge that LINCOLN was a blatant infidel and scoffer at religion and religious people may be regarded as completely and satisfactorily disposed of in the paper of the Rev. Mr. REED already referred to. There is no reason to doubt that until his removal to Springfield Mr. LINCOLN was a deist in sentiment. His principal associates appear to have been avowed unbelievers, regarding the Bible as a merely human production, and those who professed to accept its teachings as either fools or hypocrites. The class or sect was numerous in the backwoods, sharp-minded fellows in their way, prompt in detecting inconsistencies whether of statement or conduct, and loud in proclaiming their discoveries. They, however, seldom if ever read the Bible, and drew their objections from such shallow sources as "PAINE's Age of Reason" and "VOLNEY's Ruins." Then in the backwoods as they used to be, religion was the chief source of whatever refinement of mind or manners might exist, and where it was wholly absent coarseness and brutality of life generally prevailed. LINCOLN, a lawyer who had read BLACKSTONE and a few other law books, and had even meddled a little with history, would, with his abilities easily become prominent as a champion of deism, and if Mr. HERNDON tells the truth he even took the trouble to write or compile a little book in refutation of revealed religion. But a man of LINCOLN's sense must always have felt that his infidelity rested on a wretchedly shallow and ignorant foundation, and soon after his removal to Springfield, he was led incidentally to read a volume on the "Evidences of Christianity," and as Mr. REED proves beyond doubt or cavil, the consequence was that he renounced his infidel opinions, and openly declared his belief in the Holy Scriptures. Nor was he ever afterwards known to say a word logically inconsistent with the position thus taken.

The importance of the subject, we need not say, does not rest upon the value of Mr. LINCOLN's testimony, either for or against christianity. Its interest is wholly biographical, as it throws light upon the nature of the man, and serves to justify the popular view of his character. If the charge of infidelity were sustained, the fact would imply that during the last years of his life Mr. LINCOLN played the part of a systematic hypocrite for merely political ends, and his example, instead of inspiring to noble exertions, would be the most degrading and demoralizing in our history. But the facts established by Mr. REED prove the entire consistency of his career as well as the symmetrical development, by which he grew into the great leader and liberator he became.

The Walworth Trial.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial.

Reading the opening of the Walworth trial one is led to wonder in what, or of what the defense is to consist. We have been told it was the cruelty of the deceased to his wife and family which maddened his son and justified his murder; and here the testimony of that wife reveals no cruelty, nothing worse than neglect. His letters seem to be swift witnesses against him, as an inhuman monster bent on murder; and lo, the first one read in court seems as if it might better have been offered by the prosecution. If, by offering it, the defense have admitted its truth, the weight of its testimony is all on the other side. If his wife did really do what he there charges upon her, he must have been a very bad husband and father if she were not a worse wife and mother. The woman who could permit any sense of personal wrong to induce her to teach her children to hate their father or to throw any hindrance in the way of their obeying the divine command to honor him—nay, the woman who should neglect to teach her children to love their father on earth, because this is required of them by their Father in Heaven, is a bad wife, a bad mother, a very bad Christian, and a woman one would not want to know.

This last letter, this mad appeal of a father to the mother of his children for leave to visit them and win or keep their love, his reasonable demand that those who he thought would mar the harmony of their meeting should keep out of the way, his threats of suicide and murder if he were robbed of their love, all written from a sick chamber, recovering from a wasting fever, in which no wife or child ministered to him, are very poor apologies for taking his life. If every man were killed for such causes as this, there would be a great thinning out. For sake of the poor boy who has so madly forfeited his life, one almost hopes that some genuine provocation, or some extenuating circumstance, may be brought out on his behalf; but it now looks as if the trial were ecclesiastical rather than civil. The little known of the case to the public indicates that the Walworths and Hardins are Catholic—that the deceased had strayed from this church and become a free thinker, and that his children were kept from him for fear of his influence upon their faith. Nothing hardens human hearts or shuts out natural affection like religious bigotry. No war is so fierce as those fought under the banner of the Prince of Peace, when each party claims him as Commander-in-Chief of its forces; and it seems highly probable that this family feud and tragedy, is one contest more on the old battle ground of Popery and Protestantism. The true defense for the boy would be that he was born and raised in such an atmosphere, that he is the offspring of a man whose mind led him to adopt blood and thunder literature as a profession, and of a woman so narrow and vindictive that she alienated her children from their father, and that he is, per consequence, irresponsible and dangerous. The verdict should be one that would limit his intercourse with his fellow creatures, for life, to a very narrow circle of those whose duty it would be to treat him gently, and prevent his injuring himself or others. At least so it appears after the opening of his defense. Something may yet show extenuating circumstances, and show him and his mother in a more favorable light.

JANE G. SWISSHELM.

Zozonia, June 29, 1873.

The Sensational in Old Times.

Showing that the sensational in matters of news was not unknown to our grandfathers, and that there may have been untrustworthy correspondents even in those days, the Pall Mall Gazette reprints a brief but very curious letter, hitherto hidden in the records of the Brunswick family, which illustrates the kind of information disseminated among the middle classes in Germany a century ago. After describing the victory at Zorndorf, won by Frederick the Great, August 25, 1758, the writer thus enlarges upon the anthropophagist habits of the Russians:

"News has arrived (writing from Brunswick two days after the battle) by the courier on his way to Bremen that the king has utterly beaten the Russians, after a battle which began at 7 A. M. and lasted till the evening. Fifteen thousand of them were left upon the field; but very few prisoners were taken, except three Lieutenant Generals, six Major Generals, and about sixty field officers, no quarter being given to the rank and file. The king at the outset of the action took a standard in his hand and led the army on. The whole of the Russian military chest is captured, with a million rubles in it. Sixty postilions, blowing their horns, reached Berlin yesterday with the glad news. The enemy's commander-in-chief is cut off, and as good as taken. The towns and villages have been burned in the whole district that the Russians occupied, and the same thing has been going on during their retreat, so that the people there are utterly ruined. The Russian army was reckoned at seventy thousand or eighty thousand men; ours at about fifty thousand. Such a battle never was; it surpasses even that of Lissa. The Russians had in their knapsacks loins and legs of the children that they fed on. There are no children left in the district passed through, they having been all consumed by the Russians. The 27th of August, 1758."

Advice to Travelers.

Walking brings out the true character of a man. The devil never yet asked his victims to take a walk with him. You will not be long in finding your companion out. All disguises will fall away from him. As his pores open his character is laid bare. His deepest and most private self will come to the top. It matters little whom you ride with, so he be not a pickpocket; for both of you will, very likely, settle down closer and firmer in your reserve, shaken down like a measure of corn by the jolting as the journey proceeds. But walking is a more vital co-partnership; the relation is a closer and sympathetic one, and you do not feel like walking ten paces with a stranger without speaking to him.

Hence the fastidiousness of the professional walker in choosing or admitting a companion, and hence the truth of a remark of Emerson that you will generally fare better to take your dog than to invite your neighbor. Your cur-dog is a true pedestrian and your neighbor is very likely a small politician. The dog enters thoroughly into the spirit of the enterprise; he is not indifferent or preoccupied; he is constantly sniffing adventure, laps at every spring, looks upon every field and wood as a new world to be explored, is ever on some fresh trail, knows something important will happen a little further on, gazes with the true wonderseeing eyes, whatever the spot or whatever the road, finds it good to be there—in short is just that happy, delicious excursive vagabond that touches one at so many points, and whose human prototype in a companion robs miles and leagues of half their fatigue.—"Exhilarations of the Road," by John Burroughs in Galaxy.

Union Pacific Railroad Lands Open to Settlement.

Some of our enterprising contemporaries have ascertained that if the government were to withhold the title to lands granted to the Union Pacific Railroad Company not yet conveyed it would be sufficient to secure the balance due the United States from this corporation, even if the suits now pending should fail. We notice they generally estimate the value of said land at two or three dollars per acre.

They seem to have overlooked the following clause in the original charter, which, it is believed, has not been repealed, viz:

And all such lands so granted by this section which shall not be sold or disposed of by said company within three years after the entire road shall have been completed, shall be subject to settlement and pre-emption, like other lands, at a price not exceeding one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre, to be paid to said company.

In this connection it may be observed that the Department does not patent lands in advance of the surveys, and that a large part of the lands covered by this grant have not been surveyed. The title is, therefore in the United States, and three years having elapsed they are open to settlement by pre-emptors at one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre. If we are correct in the foregoing facts this might be important news to settlers on the line of this road.—Wash. Chron.

Handy Uses for Postal Cards.

A correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce inquires whether it is against business etiquette to acknowledge the receipt of a letter on a postal card by "yours at hand and contents noted," or to acknowledge the receipt of a remittance by "yours of yesterday received, with inclosure, as stated, in full to first instant." The Journal says there is nothing "mean" in such a use of postal cards, but rather a positive advantage, since on one side will be the acknowledgement of the receipt of money or order, and on the other the evidence of the date when it passed through the mails. This revives the old advantage of writing a letter on a single sheet of paper, folding it, writing the address on the outside, and mailing it to its place of destination. According to this method the official postoffice stamp showed whom and where the letter was mailed. On the introduction of envelopes this advantage was lost, since the writing was on one piece of paper and the direction and stamp on another, and there being no connecting link between them, the actual mailing of a letter in an envelope is very hard to prove. There is to be had, however, at some of the stationers, a combination of the letter-sheet and envelope on one piece of paper, and this has the handiness of the envelope with the advantage of preserving the postmark.

A Human Thermometer.

We want to believe that story from a Peoria paper about Mr. Henry Bull, but it is hard, very hard to accept it with perfect confidence. Mr. Bull it is alleged, was fed upon calomel and blue pills by the doctors for a number of years, so that finally he became absolutely saturated with quicksilver. The other day, while he was standing by the side of the house, the sun suddenly came out bright and warm, and Bull began gradually to ascend. He stopped at the line of the sill of the second story window and hung there, suspended in space, until a thunder storm happened to come up, which cooled the atmosphere, and then Mr. Bull slowly descended. Now he has a graduated scale marked on the gable end of his dwelling, and whenever Mrs. Bull wants to know how warm it is she ties flat irons to Henry's legs to hold him down, and walks him around to the gable end and cuts him loose and lets him rise to eighty or ninety degrees, and when she gets the information, she lassoes him with the clothes-line and hauls him down. We say we want to believe this anecdote, because it makes us happier to have perfect faith, but it is harder than believing most lies.

"WE WERE rather disappointed," writes Mr. Fulton, from Vienna, "in our expectation of seeing people dressed in the costumes of all nations among the exhibitors and spectators. On the contrary, there was nothing to indicate that we were on this side of the Atlantic in the dress of any one, except two greasy and dirty-looking Syrians, in their long gowns, whom we passed in the grounds. All, even Turks, wore European dress, except that the latter retained their red skull caps with a long black tassel hanging down. Even the Chinese have cut off their tails, donned coats, pantaloons, vest, necktie and felt hat, and no longer attract attention except from their almond-shaped eyes. * * * The Herald's grand telegraphic feat is pronounced here a humbug. The reports, it is charged, were written in advance, duly mailed to New York, and a few lines additional sent by telegraph. The rain poured in torrents, a fact which the Herald did not announce."

SUB ROSA.

Who knows the secret of the rose?
Deep in her silent heart it glows:—
The sun alone, from upper air,
Discerns the heavenly mystery there.
Is there one human soul that knows
The sacred secret of the rose?

Not he who sad and daunted stands,
Afraid to reach his trembling hands,
Afraid to grasp the bliss that lies
Deep in those golden mysteries.
Lest men or angels shout in scorn
The legend of the rose's thorn.

Not he who wastes his listless hours,
Like idle moths, on any flowers:—
High on the rose's front serene
Blazes the crown that marks the queen.
No soul that dares that sign deny
Shall in her fragrant bosom lie.

Not he who knows no more delight
Than dwells within his fickle sight:
For blush and bloom may pass away
In compass of a summer's day;
But still the rose's heart is sweet,
Though all its outward glow be fleet.

But he who meets its keenest thorn
With gracious strength and tender scorn;
Who knows the royal heart that stands
Waiting the touch of royal hands;
Who trusts to love's eternity
When love's own blossoms fade and die;
Who waits with passion's patient strength
For passion's peace that comes at length—
He only conquers, for he knows
The sacred secret of the rose.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

During the past six months there were in Chicago and Cook county 8,055 transfers of real estate, aggregating $43,475,377, an increase of about ten per cent. per annum in the number of sales, and of 50 per cent in prices.

The imports at Boston for May were to the amount of $6,322,643, and the exports to the amount of $2,906,084. For the five months of the calender year the imports there are $2,715,022 less than in corresponding time last year. The exports for the same time are $4,670,024 greater.

A list of maritime disasters, including ships of all nations, during the month of April, is given as follows: Sailing vessels totally lost 155, viz: 75 English, 16 French, 10 Norwegian, 9 German, 5 Swedish, 9 American, 8 Italian, 6 Dutch, 5 Greek, 4 Austrian, 3 Danish, 4 Spanish, 1 Portuguese, 1 Russian and 1 Mexican. In this number are included 31 sailing vessels reported missing. Steamers totally lost 15, viz: 8 English, 4 American, 1 German, 1 Spanish and 1 French.

The tide of travel toward Europe suffers no abatement. The steamship Calabria took out on Saturday 117 cabin and 115 steerage passengers; the Castalia 88 cabin and 120 steerage; the City of Antwerp 70 cabin, 140 steerage; the Adriatic 20 cabin, 200 steerage; the Spain and Denmark 105 cabin, 150 steerage; the Vandalia 20 cabin, 20 steerage; the Rhein 150 passengers, and the Pereire 233 passengers.

The foreign importations at the port of New York for the past week amounted to $8,447,831. Among the entries were the following: Sugar, $789,514; tea, $152,459; coffee, $819,843; molasses, $139,338; railroad iron, bars, $203,971; hides, $469,844; watches, $49,785; jewelry, $79,208; toys, $50,994; tobacco, $101,480; coal, $8,230; fancy goods, $45,608. The total merchandise imports from the 1st of January to date amount to $213,099,606, against $224,628,352 corresponding period last year. Shipments of produce since January 1st, $134,640,920. Specie shipments for the week, $1,174,592 25, making a total of $26,962,225 since January 1st, against $36,636,607 last year.

It is issued from 733 Sansom street, Philadelphia.

PERSONAL.

Late letters from Rome stated that King Victor Emanuel is extremely anxious to celebrate his civil marriage with the Countess Marafioni, in order to place his wife and children in their proper position. Prince Humbert is bitterly opposed to this, as is Minister Lanza. It is also said that if the King must choose between his crown and this act there is reason to think that he will not much longer hesitate, and that we may hear of his abdication at no distant date. Apropos of all this, many pleasing stories are told of the morganatic wife of the King. She is known to be very pious; to possess admirable good sense, and to have an unalterable devotion for her husband. One also hears much of the superiority of the children of this union over those of the former wife of the King. The Prince Cajano, the eldest son of the Countess, is "un cavalier parfait" of an excellent shape, brave, and a good soldier. The Marquisse Spinola, who is now a widow, is a lady of great virtue and of charming grace. The domestic life of the Countess of Marfiori is said to be exemplary. Those who are acquainted with her mansion say that its inmates lead a very Christian life. Every morning they hear mass; every evening they pray together, exactly as in the good and ancient Italian families.

The Roman Catholic Bishop at Montreal has at last so far yielded to the importunities of the members of the Typographical Union as to permit the interment of the remains of a dead comrade in that part of the cemetery reserved for unbaptized infants, still persisting that he could not let him be interred in consecrated ground. He explained to them that he did not confound them with the Internationals or other bodies, but he understood them to form a branch of trades unions, and he was implacably opposed to trades unions as subversive of social order and public morality. The feelings among the craft in Montreal is one of intense surprise and disappointment.

Mr. George W. Childs, of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, recently received a very tasteful present from John Murray, the London publisher. It consists of Byron's works, six volumes, in full morocco with gilt edges. The fly-leaf of volume one bears an appropriate inscription by the donor, and inserted is an autograph of Byron, which reads as follows: "The couplet in the Errata page must be altered to (as follows)

'The deepest murmur of this lip shall be
No sigh for safety, but a prayer for thee!'

Let this be done immediately, and at all costs, even if the other be printed off. B." The lines are from "The Bride of Abydos," Canto II., Stn xx., and the quotation is most happily chosen for the purpose for which it is used.

A London letter says: As for Mr. Gladstone's predecessor as Premier of England, the reports of his reluctance to again enter political life at the head of the Cabinet, should fortune give him the chance, are confirmed by personal conversations. He looks weary, and acknowledges himself to be so. He is also a poorer as well as a sadder man than he was. After the death of Viscountess Beaconsfield her fortune passed away to the family of her first husband, Mr. Wyndham Lewis. Mr. Disraeli is, therefore, unable to keep up the same position as he was want to keep during her life. Still, he has his pension of £2,000 as an ex-Cabinet Minister, and some years ago an eccentric old lady in Devonshire left him the bulk of her fortune, amounting to about £25,000. But Hughenden has to be maintained, and a public man has many calls on his purse, even if he should have no family.

From England we have news of the death of Admiral Griffin, of the royal navy. He expired at Plymouth, at the age of seventy five years. His exploits in the great war with America, and in the Syrian campaign of 1840, helped to maintain the prestige of England. The deceased, whose life had been one of almost incessant active service, worked his way, step by step, from the lowest rank to the highest. He was fond of showing his scars and narrating his experience as a prisoner of war.

I hape great hope of a wicked man, slender hope of a mean one. A wicked man may be converted, and become a prominent saint. A mean man ought to be converted six or seven times, one right after the other, to give him a fair start and put him on an equality with a bold, wicked man.—Beecher.

Guy Livingstone may write atrocious novels, but in practical life he has recently given evidence of something very like real genius. Nothing short of that could have caused him to venture so boldly to reduce the traditionary code duello to a modern basis. The case was this: Two young swells had quarrelled, not about a lady, but about a bet; a challenge to mortal combat had been given and accepted; a difficulty arose about the weapons to be used; the seconds finally referred the matter to an arbitrator—no other than the famous author, Guy Livingstone—and he decided that the bloodthirsty combatants should meet in the middle of Piccadilly, each armed with a horsewhip, and thrash each other until one or both cried, "Hold! enough!" The duelists demurred; but the arbitrator declared that, as they asked for his decision, they should obey it; and that, if they did not, he should whip both of them. At this threat they yielded, and the combat commenced at the appointed time and place. Fast and thick were the blows; shrill through the air whistled the keen lashes; dense arose the dust from the well-beaten coats. Each man stood bravely to his work until at last, as if by mutual consent, each paused at the same moment, and exclaimed, "Enough!" Then they quietly shook hands, jumped into cabs, and drove away amid the plaudits of the crowd.

The Constitutional Convention—Miss Carpenter's Lecture on Prison Reform—Women Appointed Emigration Commissioners, &c.

Special Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Commercial.
PHILADELPHIA, June 26, 1873.

Can anything new be said of that which is so old as the Constitutional Convention? Has not everything been told that is worth hearing? Even the little "pages," who skip so lightly over the rich carpet, the solemn-faced Doorkeepers, the formidable Sergeant-at-Arms and his Assistant, have all been so well described, the people say it is enough. And who has not heard of the fine "hall," furnished with costly desks, fine chairs, velvet-cushioned sofas and the richest of Brussels carpet, at the neat little cost of eighteen thousand dollars? The members, too, have all been so well "done," that nothing new remains for the poor letter writer.

Has not the Press so faithfully "pen-portraited" each, and put him up in such a nice, life-size frame that even a stranger, with one eye shut, can put his finger on any one of them and tell his age, stature, weight, the abundance or scantiness of his hair, its color, length, crisp, and so forth.

The pen-painters and newspaper sketchers seem to think that this is all the people need know concerning their law-makers. The advantages to be derived from the amended Constitution is a small matter compared to this. What need the people care whether these men have ability, integrity and sound moral principle sufficient to make the "supreme law" of the State on the basis of right and justice to all? Is it not far more important to know whether the hair of these gentlemen is black, brown, auburn or gray?

Some amusing scenes occur in the Convention hall. A few days since a gentleman from the country called to see a friend. Being of an observing nature and inquiring mind, he kept his eyes open and asked many questions. Seeing two men, sitting on nice, easy chairs near the door, he asked who they were. "Doorkeepers," said his friend. "Two doorkeepers! and only one door to keep? and the lazy fellows let me open it myself! What do you pay these chaps?" "Eighteen hundred dollars each." "Thirty-six hundred dollars to these two for sitting, looking at folks go in and out," screamed the countryman.

Seeing two others stepping around, with apparently nothing to do, he asked, "Who are these?" "The Sergeant-at-Arms and his Assistant." "What do they do?" "Punish offenders, if any of us get into a fight, and clear the galleries, if those who occasionally sit up there should whistle, laugh or clap their hands." "How many fights have you had?" "None." "How many times have the galleries been emptied?" "Not once." "Do you tell me," said the country gentleman, "you keep these two men waiting day after day for you respectable men to get into a fight, and yet you have never once performed your duty?" "Yes." "How much do you pay them for waiting?" "Thirty-eight hundred dollars." The astonished countryman, apparently overcome with surprise, seized his hat, exclaiming aloud, "If it takes seventy-four hundred dollars to pay four men for doing nothing, what must it cost to make a Constitution?" His friend began to fear if he remained much longer and made many more inquiries, both Sergeant-at-Arms and Doorkeepers would have a little bit of work, and hurried him off as soon as possible.

Had he but thought that it is only the State has this to pay, he would perhaps have felt more at ease, as the State is supposed to be able to bear any amount of heavy pay for no work.

And then, the advantages to be derived from the new Constitution. What if a few thousand dollars are given away; the people will get the worth of their money. Will it be adopted? is the question of many. Certainly; if the newspapers only tell the people it is all right; for, not more than one out of every one hundred thousand will be likely to read it, as its length is said to be such that a man may take a Rip Van Winkle sleep while it is being read.

No doubt many will vote against its adoption on account of the clause which makes women eligible to office. What evil genius could have tempted these good men to stray so far as to forget woman's heaven-appointed sphere, and thus try to drag her, unasked, from the place nature designed she should fill—"home"—to occupy a public position, is a query with many. Why did they not feel the public pulse before they made it lawful for women to hold a public and responsible office—an office, too, which makes her a voter; for to be a school director, she must be a voter, or she cannot perform the duties of her office? "Oh! wise Judges, how we do honor you! Many Daniels have come to judgment."

By your first clause on suffrage you say, only male "persons" shall be electors. That is plain; no other species of animals shall vote but human beings, however nearly related. According to Darwin, man may be the monkey or donkey; by this clause, neither monkey nor donkey can vote. But here is another clause which gives "female persons" the right to become electors. Had the Convention been as consistent as the twenty-two honorable gentlemen who voted to strike out the word male, a different effect would have been produced on the public mind. As it now is, they have caught the voters in a trap from which they cannot escape. If they vote to ratify the Constitution, they vote for woman suffrage. Voters, beware. Know what you are doing. Let the five hundred thousand dollars paid for amending the Constitution go, rather than bring women into political life.

What is the loss of a few thousand dollars compared to the ruin that will come upon all, if women are permitted to hold office? Much liberality has been shown by the Convention in granting the use of the hall for lectures on various subjects. Much good has been done in this way. The Convention has learned what the people wish on certain subjects. Bishop Simpson's masterly appeal to the Convention, for the civil and political equality of women, with many will not soon be forgotten by those who heard, whether they be friends or foes to the cause.

Miss Carpenter, an English lady of great celebrity, on account of her philanthropic works, especially in reference to prison reform, lectured in the hall of the Convention Thursday evening, the 19th inst.

She is said to have done a great work in India and England in establishing reformatory schools for young convicts. There are at present fifty of these schools in England. Miss Carpenter presides over one at Bristol, which has done a great deal of good in the way of preparing large numbers for usefulness in life. The boys and girls are taught in separate schools, and receive, as she termed it, very different treatment. In the boys they cultivate industry, energy and self-reliance; in the girls, "a love of home." To the boys more liberty and freedom of action is given than to the girls. The former are taken out into the fields, given much out-door exercise to fit them for making a living, while the latter have about the same freedom that is given boarding-school girls. They are taught fine needle work, as well as how to bake, roast beef and do many other things which would be of service in the homes. Would it be amiss to teach these girls industry, energy and self-reliance, since they, too, will be compelled to make a living for themselves? However, let us rather acknowledge the good done than find fault with slight defects.

May this noble woman, who has done, and is doing, so much for the poor, tempted, weak ones of earth, be encouraged in the merciful work of reforming and saving the unfortunate.

Women everywhere are coming forward to the work assigned them by the Heavenly Master.

Our government has lately appointed five women Emigration Commissioners; among these is Miss Annie Burnett. This lady attends the disembarkation of the emigrants at Castle Garden, inspects the accommodations of each vessel arriving, and makes inquiry among the steerage passengers as to their treatment. It is said these Commissioners are proving of great service and fast remedying an evil that has hitherto been an especial tribulation to women and children.

Surely the day of woman's recognized usefulness has dawned. May it grow brighter and brighter until the perfect day, when she will have full liberty to use all her faculties for good.

Sudden Change in the Colors of Hair.

Two sudden changes of the color of hair from black to white are reported in a foreign medical magazine. It appears that a physician at Berlin, a strong, healthy, and less than middle-aged man, sent his wife and one daughter to spend last summer at a watering place. The day that he expected a letter informing him of their arrival, there came one saying that his daughter had been taken sick very suddenly, and was already dead. The shock was terrible, and instantly his hair became entirely gray. He had to visit some patients that same afternoon, and they scarcely recognized him. Their peculiar actions revealed the change to him. The other case was of a man thirty-five years old, living in the Netherlands. He was one day passing the canal in Rotterdam, when he saw a child struggling in the water. He plunged in and brought it to land, but it was already dead by the time he had rescued its body. Bending over it to try to restore life, he discovered that the dead child was his own son. The blow, so sudden and unexpected, and coming upon him when he himself was so much exhausted, turned his hair entirely gray, and left him scarcely recognizable.

Danger.

At this season the atmosphere is surcharged with the seeds of intermittents, remittents, rheumatism pulmonary disorders, bilious complaints and the like Persons whose nervous systems are relaxed are the first to succumb to these distempers. Brace up the physical energies then with this potential vegetable tonic. It is the most powerful recuperant which the botanic kingdom has ever yielded to patient research and experiment. Try it. The blindest disciple of the old medical dogmas will at least admit that a tonic and alterative, compounded of approved herbs, roots and barks can do no harm, while the testimony of thousands invites a trial of its virtues. Vigor is the thing most needed in these cases as well as in dyspepsia and nervous affections, and Hostetter's Bitters is the safest, surest and most wholesome strengthening preparation that human skill has yet concocted.

MEDICAL.

Speedily Cured!

ALL FORMS of Venereal, Private and Nervous Diseases at the old established Girard Medical Institute, No. 172 Second avenue, between Smithfield and Grant streets, Pittsburgh, Pa.

NO CHARGE UNTIL CURED.

Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness or Impotency, as the result of self-abuse in youth or excess in maturer years, and which produce some of the following effects as emissions, blotches, debility, dizziness, nervousness, dimness of sight, cough, indigestion, constipation, despondency, confusion of ideas, aversion to society, loss of memory and sexual power, and which unfits the victim for business or marriage, and ultimately causing insanity and consumption, are thoroughly and permanently cured. Medicine supplied at the Institute. A medical pamphlet relating to private diseases sent in sealed envelope for two stamps. All communications confidential.

This Institute was established for the express purpose of supplying the afflicted with scientific and reliable treatment, and is not to be classed with the numerous quacks and impostors that infest all large cities. The proprietors have made the treatment of Private and Special Diseases the study of their lives, and can refer to thousands all over the country that have been benefitted and cured by their treatment. No matter how difficult or how long standing your case may be, if curable, after a personal examination they will frankly tell you. Remember, they have cured many cases given up by other physicians.

Patients treated by mail or express, but where possible it is best to visit the city for personal consultation; or address

PEARL WHEAT IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST
Delicious, Wholesome and Nourishing

Preparation of nature's great food ever produced. Essentially nothing but the woody fibre and a portion of the water are removed by the process, leaving all the starch, gluten and the greatest part of the mineral substances (phosphates), all that is nourishing in the wheat. The removal of the woody fibre makes it far more palatable than the various preparations of wheat now in the market. No other article of food contains such proper proportions of the requirements of the whole human system. To those suffering from INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, and to persons of sedentary habits, it will prove invaluable. As a BREAKFAST DISH it is unequaled. Our best physicians here say it is of more importance than anything else that can be found. Try it once and you will never be without it. Ask your Grocer or Druggist for a Package. Manufactured only by the

FINANCE AND TRADE.

TUESDAY EVENING, July 1, 1873.

General trade has settled down into the usual summer dullness, and a quiet state of affairs may be looked for during the next sixty days. The theory that we will then have full rates is pretty generally accepted. The reasons for such expectation have something to do with the fixed volume of the currency as compared with the growth of population and of business; but they have still more to do with the increasing demand for money for permanent investmen; and the rapidity with which floating capital is being converted into fixed property and the heavy withdrawal of funds from the great centers of trade for moving the crops. In a new country like ours where so much is yet to be done in the way of development, the ratio of absorption is greater than the ratio of production of capital. Yet the rates will never, for any length of time, go higher than the point at which capital may be profitably employed; and this limit has in many cases been reached already, hence must cease any new development in these particular directions, or the natural consequences will be financial embarrassment and failure.

—Under the influence of the opinion of Judge Pierrepont that the company has no power to execute a mortgage on its property, Pacific Mail, which on account of its very "active" disposition has been a favorite speculative card of our stock operators, has dropped to 34⅞, the lowest point touched for some years.

The numerous losses of last year and the extravagant management of Mr. Stockwell has brought about the natural results which are now apparent, and we should not be surprised to see the stock follow the example of its sister, unfortunate on the Atlantic side.

While it seems to be the general opinion that the market must brighten up before long, considering the position of speculation, yet there is little evidence of any new inspiration, excepting in Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, which stiffened up a point on the talk that the Presidency of the road would be filled by the election of Commodore Vanderbilt, to be followed by a consolidation of interests with New York Central.

—Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co. report the following quotations of government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cook & Co., their correspondent:

—In answer to a correspondent who asks if the railroads of this State which have heretofore deducted the State tax from their coupons when paying the same to the holders of their bonds, can continue to do so on the interest maturing July 1st and thereafter, we would say—that the law is susceptible of an interpretation in either way for the coupons maturing July 1, 1873, but that there is no doubt about those coming due hereafter.

We quote from the act of March 1873:

"SEC. 4. That every company, except bank or savings institutions, incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth, and authorized to issue bonds or other evidence of indebtedness, and which pays interest to its bondholders or other creditors, shall pay to the State Treasurer, for the use of the Commonwealth, semi-annually, on the first days of July and January in each and every year, beginning with the first day of July, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, a tax equal to five per centum upon every dollar of interest paid as aforesaid; and it shall be the duty of any company aforesaid to make semi-annual reports to the Auditor General, under oath, showing the total amount of the indebtedness of said company, and the amount of interest paid to their bondholders or other creditors."

—The following table shows the prices of railway stocks, gold, &c., at the various sessions of the New York Stock Exchange during the day, furnished by George I. Whitney, Esq., broker and dealer in stocks, bonds and gold, corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street:

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, TUESDAY, July 1, 1873.

REMARKS.—Owing to the general uniformity in prices of all leading articles of trade, we do not occupy space with extended quotations.

The rise in the rivers may have a beneficial effect upon the tone of the markets. Be that as it may, the market is very dull, and we do not look for a better state of things for weeks to come.

We do not deem it necessary to mention any particular articles over which dullness broods.

The following are the receipts of the leading articles of produce for the past twenty-four hours:

Flour, barrels	1,350	Apples, bbls	11
Cheese, boxes	375	Corn, sacks	1,220
Wheat, sacks	1,220	Barley, sacks	1,312
Butter, packages	16	Bacon, tierces	25

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, WEDNESDAY, July 2, 1873.

REMARKS.—The extreme warm weather has had the effect of softening the oil market, at least prices are no stiffer. We could not learn of any transactions in this market, beyond small jobbing lots, of either crude or refined oils for present or any future delivery. May we not say that the market is dull and unsatisfactory? For particulars see dispatches from the oil regions.

CRUDE.

The market shows no change for the better. Sales are reported in a small way at 5¾a5¾c per gallon. Parker's $1 95a2 00 per bbl. Oil men report the market quiet and dull.

REFINED.

What is true of crude oil is also applicable to the refined article. We are reported sales in car lots, at works, at 15¾a16c per gallon. The market is dull and not at all satisfactory.

OIL BARRELS.

No change in prices, with a continued fair demand.

[By Western Union Line.]

TITUSVILLE, July 1.—The Courier says: The market continues weak at all points and prices about unchanged. Upper road varied during the day but closed weak at $2 10 bid with no takers. Sales:

STOCK EXCHANGE.

Stocks, with a few exceptions, have been generally strong. Pacific Mail active but weak, and sold off from 35⅛ to 34⅞, recovering to 35⅛ at the close. Union Pacific also active, but was very weak in the forenoon in consequence of non-payment of interest on first mortgage bonds against which an injunction had been procured by the Government attorneys, and sold down from 25⅜ to 24⅝. The announcement that the interest will be paid, on Thursday, on all bonds not held under the Ames' contract or given in consideration of Credit Mobilier operations caused an ultimate advance to 25⅛. Lake Shore strong on the report that W. H. Vanderbilt is to be President, and advanced from 94 to 95¼. Michigan Central very weak, and declined from 95 to 93⅞ on the report that the Directors voted to pass the dividend. Other changes were in Western Union 84¼a84⅝; Northwest 71¼a71⅝a71⅞; Erie 62⅛a62⅜; New York Central 101⅞a102⅛; Ohios 38⅛ a3⅞; St. Paul 50⅞a51⅛; Wabash 68a68⅛; Rock Island 109½; Columbus, Chicago and Indiana Central 28⅞a28; Atlantic and Pacific 20a20⅛. MONONGAHELA—Four feet three inches and rising.

THE marks last evening indicated four feet three inches and rising slowly. The weather during the day was pleasant. The present rise in the Ohio will open up trade.

THE steamer Laura No. 2 has withdrawn from the St. Marys and Parkersburg trade.

THERE are several towboats being completed at the landing, but no passenger boats.

WM. FAGIN bought the B. L. Hodge, at New Orleans, last Monday, at Sheriff's sale.

THE Esperanza arrived at Fort Benton on the 19th, with 180 tons of freight and 33 passengers.

THE Allegheny river was rising yesterday at Oil City, with seventeen inches water in the channel.

THE new iron towboat Alex Swift, left Cincinnati yesterday for Steubenville with a tow of empty barges.

STEAMERS loading at St. Louis for New Orleans only ask 25c ℔ bbl on flour, and 12½c ℔ cwt. on pound freight.

WALKER & NELLIS, of Cairo, have purchased the Bannock City, and are putting her in complete repair, when they will probably offer her for sale.

THE Dubuque Herald of Thursday says: Commodore Davidson offered to take freight as low as five cents, while the Babbage was unloading there.

THE Miner's contract with the government has expired, and she has been reloaded. The Peninah and Josephine are now in the government employ.

A CAIRO telegram says: A large snag, directly in the channel, has made its appearance just above old Curlew trip; the best water is to the right coming down.

THE hull of the LeClaire No. 2 was raised and moved away from the Evansville wharf, Saturday. Good progress is being made on the hull of the Commercial.

THE Memphis Avalanche says the Great Republic is coming up the river with 1,100 tons including 572 hhds. sugar and 3,000 sacks salt; also, a fine list of people.

THE steamer West Virginia, Capt. Donaldson, left for Brownsville and Geneva with a good trip. She will arrive to-night and leave Thursday morning at seven A. M.

JUST AS WE EXPECTED.—The fine side-wheeler Juniata, Captain C. L. Brennan, will begin running to-day for Cincinnati and Louisville, and will have dispatch.

THE steamer Post Boy in 1866 brought down five hundred and ten bales of hemp, which is said to be the largest cargo of that stuff out of the Missouri since the war.

THE following boats are expected up on the present rise: Wild Duck, Simson Horner, Oakland, Jno. A. Wood, Grand Lake No. 2, Smoky City, Ironsides, John Gilmore and others.

THE contract between Captain E. A. Sheble and Cutting and Wood, of Metropolis. for the new steamer Joe Brown, has fallen through. Captain Sheble has concluded to repair the City of Alton, and build not.

THE Brownsville and Geneva packet West Virginia will be docked in a few days and placed in thorough and complete repair for the summer trade. Captain Donaldson is a careful and experienced officer, and has many friends.

THE St. Lewis Times says Dr. Burleigh is having a new steamer, to be called the Cosmopolitan, built for him in Pittsburgh, which he will run on the Upper Missouri next season. The craft will be 185 feet long, 36 feet beam, with a four feet hold.

THE LaBelle, on reaching Shreveport, her hands put up a broom and live cock in front of the jackstaff, claiming that they had beat the Moore. The crew of the Moore contended she was not beaten. The LaBelle got into Twelve Mile Bayou first, which is all the advantage in a race between Shreveport and Jefferson.

A NEW automatic lifeboat, similar to those on Capt. Pepper's Thompson Dean, was experimented with at New Orleans last Tuesday. The Times says:

Accordingly as the hour for its trial approached, ten young men got into the boat and went out twenty yards beyond the ferry wharf, and immediately capsized the boat, which turned over the same as a barrel would, and righting itself at each turn, and as fast as the water would come in on its side while tilted it would drain out when the boat became righted. This lifeboat is twenty-five feet in length, five feet beam, and is constructed of five eighth inch iron; will carry forty ordinary people very comfortably. The inventor of this automatic contrivance is a Mr. Beaupre, of Metropolis, Ill., who has a patent for it.

FRIDAY'S Helena, Montana, Gazette says: "We are informed that Dunphy's bridge, Cockrill's bridge and Jim Gallagher's ferry, on the route to Bozeman, have all been swept off by the high water." The Missouri is full of drift, and running out full at the mouth, and cutting into the bank on the Illinois side, doing considerable damage to farms in the vicinity, by carrying off their fences and submerging a part of their crop.

THE Sioux City Journal of the 25th says: The recent down trip of the Durfee from Benton was the best on record. Her cargo was a very valuable one, and her passenger list numbered 59 instead of 40, as stated yesterday. She brought down 70 tons of bullion and 115 tons of ore, besides a large lot of furs and robes. Among the latter were 4,000 buffalo robes belonging to I. G. Baker, St. Louis, and consigned to J. H. Charles; 4,000 robes belonging to Tom Powers, Benton, consigned to H. D. Booge & Co.; 2,000 robes for Goeway & Co., this city, and John Hittle, of this place, who returned on the boat, brought down 1,000 wolf skins, besides other valuable furs. Aside from the above there were smaller consignments to different parties. The Durfee will at once load for a return trip, probably to the Crossing, and will clear Saturday or Sunday.

THE following bears its own explanation:

OFFICE U. S. SUPERVISING INSPECTOR OF STEAM VESSELS, MEMPHIS, TENN., June 18, 1873.

GENTLEMEN—I deem it important to call your attention to the necessity of exercising great care in your examination of candidates for license as pilots and engineers, to the end that none but efficient, trustworthy and competent men shall receive such certificates. Appointments to these responsible positions should be restricted to men who are not only in every way qualified, but whose known habits are such as to render them fit to be intrusted with the safety of the traveling public and the property of their employers. It is therefore especially enjoined upon you that licenses should be refused in all cases where you have reason to believe that the applicants are addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors, and that every means in your power should be resorted to to ascertain the habit of persons applying either for first license or for renewals. It is a gratifying fact that great improvement has already taken place in this respect, and I take this occasion to express the hope that the service may be brought to a still higher standard in the future. Very respectfully,

B. O. CARR, Supervising Inspector.

To Messrs. Baynolds and Houghton, Local Inspectors, Sixth District, Louisville, Ky.

A Monster Steamer Due—Detailed Description of the City of Chester.

In the course of a few days the City of Chester, of the Inman Line, the largest vessel in the world, except the Great Eastern, will arrive at New York. The City of Chester is said to be one of the best specimens of naval architecture ever turned out by any ship-builder, yet everything is in due proportion, and her buoyancy in all respects is perfect. The vessel is 450 feet long, over all, 44 feet in beam, and 35 feet in depth, net tonnage being 3,000, nominal horse power 850, but capable of being worked up to 4,250. Her boilers are Messrs. Caird & Co., of Greenock, and she is the first steamer this firm has ever built for the Inman line. Like the rest of the steamers of this line, she is full-rigged. First-class passenger accommodation is provided for 150 persons, and for steerage passengers 1,200. The dining hall or saloon is situated on the spar deck, amidships, and measures 45 feet square. It is wainscoted with highly polished walnut, divided into panels by fluted and filleted Corinthian columns, the fillets, capitals and bosses being richly gilded and standing upon ebony plinths. These panels are also perforated for side lights—quite a new invention—and a flood of light is admitted by a large ornamental lantern cupola. Above this saloon is a smoking room for cabin passengers. Adjoining this are the ladies' retiring room and another ladies' room. Pianos and well stocked libraries are also provided. The state rooms are large and well lighted. The loftiness of the 'tween decks has enabled the owners to give steerage passengers the same measurement of room as that allotted to the cabin passengers, and considerably more than is demanded under the provisions of the passenger act. The City of Chester is built of the best material, her frame being strong and massive. On each of her decks there is a range of stringer plate of extra width and thickness securely riveted to each beam entirely around the ship. She is divided into eight compartments by means of seven water-tight bulkheads. In case of fire, she carries with her a hose of large calibre, provided with pumps which may be worked by steam or hand, and there is a fire annihilator among the stores of the vessel. She is also provided with ten large life boats. For the same line another vessel of the same tonnage is building, to be named the City of Richmond. She will be three feet longer than the one above described.—New York Times.

BY THE ATLANTIC CABLE.

The German Government Invest Ten Millions in U. S. Bonds.

LONDON, July 1.—It became known to-day that the German government has invested ten million dollars in United States bonds, principally of the five per cent. funded loan. The tightness of the money market yesterday is believed to have been partially caused by the transfers from the Joint Stock bank to the American syndicate.

Alarm in England at the Course of the Iron Trade.

LONDON, July 1.—The Birmingham and Wolverhampton journals express alarm at the decrease of orders for hardware from America, and at the remarkable development of the trade in the United States, whose manufacturers are supplanting those of England in the colonies and South America.

The New Spanish Ministry.

LONDON, July 1.—A special from Madrid says that the present Spanish Ministry is regarded as satisfactory by all parties. Senor Carrajal, Minister of Finance, has made arrangements to pay the coupons falling due in July. The same correspondent telegraphs that the Irreconcilables have made several significant demonstrations, but that the troops are ready to suppress any formidable outbreak. Another correspondent says that another crisis in government affairs is feared.

MADRID, July 1.—In the Cortes last evening a bill granting extraordinary powers to the government was presented and read by Pi Y Margall. The Cortes by a vote of 193 yeas against 13 nays, decided to proceed immediately with its consideration.

With the exceptions of a few shots fired into the air last night, the quiet of the city was not disturbed. Only a small number of Irreconcilables are believed to be in favor of resorting to violence as a means of gaining their ends.

LATER.—The Cortes has approved the bill conferring extraordinary powers upon the government—139 yeas, 18 nays.

The Spanish Colonies—Cuban Insurgents Urged to Lay Down Their Arms.

MADRID, July 1.—The Minister of Colonies has sent a cable dispatch to the Captain General of Cuba and Porto Rico. After saluting the inhabitants of these islands, without distinction of color, he declares that the government is determined to maintain the integrity of the territory, and appeals to the Cuban insurgents to desist from their aimless and inglorious war.

HAVANA, July 1.—The Tribuno publishes a manifesto of the Federal Republicans of Cuba urging the union of all parties, and calling on the insurgents, in the name of the Captain General and the Republic, to lay down their arms and enjoy the benefits of a republican government. The Republicans have appointed a committee to go to Madrid and represent them before the government and Cortes. The political Governor has resigned and will return to Spain. A battalion of volunteers at Cienfuegos revolted and tried to prevent the newly appointed Governor of the city from taking his office, but the attempt was a failure. A duel has taken place between the Cuban Generals Sanquil and Garcia. A reconciliation has been effected.

The Recent Victory of Carlists Over Republican Troops.

LONDON, July 1.—The New York Herald correspondent at Camp Lecumber says, after taking Port Iruzun, on the 26th ult., the Carlists were attacked by a column under Castanon, two thousand strong, between Lecumcerer and Jaben. Five battalions of Carlists under Elio defeated the Republicans and took cannons, baggage and eighty prisoners, including Maj. Ureta and one captain. The loss of the Republicans is estimated at three hundred. The Carlist loss was nearly the same, including Majors Aspiazo and San Jurjo and a young son of the former Minister of War. Marquis Lina et Lizzarrago had two horses killed under him. Dorreggary, Chief of Staff, was severely wounded. Nouvilla's column had arrived at Pompeluna.

Political Situation in France.

PARIS, July 1.—M. Dufaure, late Minister of the Interior, will introduce a motion in the Assembly to-morrow for the immediate consideration of the constitutional bills proposed by President Thiers before his resignation. It is anticipated that the Right will split on this question.

Confessional in the Church of England.

LONDON, July 1.—A meeting was held here last night, at which resolutions were adopted protesting against the introduction of the confessional into the Church of England. The Earl of Shaftsbury presided, and the meeting was large and influential.

Capital Town of Burmah Captured by Chinese—Great Slaughter.

CALCUTTA, July 1.—The Chinese have captured Momeita, a capital town of Burmah, Northeast Ava. The place was carried by assault, and there was great slaughter of its defenders and inhabitants.

Cholera in the Northern Adriatic.

LONDON, July 1.—The British Consul General in Egypt warns travelers against taking the route via Vienna to Egypt, as steamers from that city are quarantined at Alexandria on account of the cholera, which is reported to exist in northern parts of the Adriatic.

Weavers of Berlin on a Strike.

BERLIN, July 1.—The weavers of this city, to the number of eight thousand, have struck work, they demand an increase of thirty-three per cent. in their wages, which the masters refuse to grant.

Miscellaneous Dispatches.

LONDON, July 1.—The receipts from Internal Revenue in the United Kingdom for the fiscal year were £75,896,000, a decrease of £370,000 from the preceding year.

The Shah visited the Bank of England this afternoon. An immense crowd gathered in front of the bank and loudly cheered the Shah.

Since the fall of Khiva the government of Russia has renewed its assurances that its troops will retire from the country when the Khan has been sufficiently punished for his treatment of Russian subjects.

LONDON, July 1.—A special from the Hague to the Pall Mall Gazette denies that any settlement has been made between the Dutch and Atchinese.

Marine News.

LONDON, July 1.—The steamers Mosel, City of Brooklyn, City of Bristol, Columbia and Victoria, from New York, have arrived out.

European Markets.

LONDON, July 1, 5 P. M.—Consols for money 92⅞a92¾; for account 92⅞a92⅞. American Securities—5-20s of '65, 93¼; 5-20s '67, 92¾; 10-40s, 89¾; new 5s, 92¾; Erie, 49½. Amount of bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance to-day, £40,000. Rate of discount for three months' bills in open market ¼ per cent. below the bank rate. About General Crook, the Humanitarian.

We are rather sorry that George Crook didn't capture the Modocs. During the war it was observed that when Gen. Crook was sent after bushwhackers he never brought any into camp to be bothered with—they always met with some accident. We remember an illustrative occasion. Crook then Colonel of the Thirty-sixth Ohio, reported to Rosecrans at Cross Lanes, after the battle of Carnifex Ferry. Rosecrans was delighted to see him because he was a good helper. The bushwhackers were very troublesome. Crook was order to squelch them. About ten days afterward Crook came into headquarters looking like a man who had been sleeping out o' nights. Rosecrans and the rest of us greeted him warmly, and, after a glass of—water, said:

Rosy—"Well, Crook, what did you do?"
Crook—"Cleaned out the bushwhackers."
Rosy—"Didn't you take any prisoners?"
Crook—(Drawling)—"Well, yes, I did have—seven, but the d—d fools fell off a tree and broke their neck."

Headquarters took more water.

A Republican Chaired.

Last evening a number of gentlemen, representing the "Allegheny Union Republican Club," met at the residence of Hugh McNeill, Esq., on Washington street, Allegheny City, and presented to him the beautiful chair which, as President of the Club, he occupied during the campaigns of last fall. The presentation speech was made by Mr. John Megraw, who, in very eloquent and appropriate terms, referred to Mr. McNeill's success as a manufacturer, his worth as a citizen, his tact and devotion to his party as a politician, his zeal in the propagation of Republican principles, the high esteem in which he is held in these cities as an upright and honorable gentleman, and his invaluable services during the State and National campaigns. Mr. McNeill responded in a brief speech and thanked in appropriate terms the generous donors. Short addresses were then made by William B. Rodgers, Esq., City Solicitor of Allegheny, Mr. William Stewart and others, after which the party retired to the dining room and partook of a most excellent and substantial banquet. There is no truer or more devoted Republican than Mr. McNeill, and we very cordially congratulate him on the reception of such an unmistakable token of the confidence reposed in him by his fellow-citizens of our sister city. If his services should be required in another campaign they will be given most heartily. He does everything from principle and his labors are always disinterested.

False Rumors.

A report was in circulation in this city yesterday that M. V. B. Hazen, formerly on the police force here, but now on duty at Connellsville, had been wounded in some indefined way. A very cursory examination of the facts of the case served to stamp the story as a canard.

The passengers by one of the afternoon trains on llegheny Valley Railroad brought to the city mor that smoke was seen at Negley's Run, at an extensive fire was in progress there. o proved to be a bottomless report, and the e companies drew a long breath once more.

The Cash Insurance Company.

Attention is directed to the notice elsewhere of the Cash Insurance Company. Stockholders are notified that the Directors have declared a dividend of $4 per share out of the earnings of the last six months. This is a good showing and exhibits the excellent management of the institution.

Another Torpedo Contempt Case.

Henry C. Carpenter was before Judge McKennan, of the United States Court, yesterday, on complaint Col. Roberts, for contempt in disobeying the injunction of the Court prohibiting the explosion of torpedoes in oil wells. After a hearing, the defendant was adjudged guilty, and committed to jail for three months.

Sanitary Measures.

The Health office under the charge of Mr. Gray is alive to the interests of the city in a sanitary point of view, and is "pushing things" vigorously. Mr. Gray has brought prosecutions against Mr. Coward and Mr. Eckel for maintaining nuisances, and other suits are to be instituted where compliance with orders is refused or neglected. A lot of Mr. Coward's, on Tannehill and Wylie streets, contains filthy water, and Mr. Eckel is charged with throwing filth upon a lot on Shaffer street. Mayor Blackmore has issued summonses.

East End Nuisances.

Captain Bowers, Road Commissioner for the Third district, acting upon the request of the Board of Health, has complained upon parties having stables along the line of the Four Mile Run, for maintaining nuisances in the shape of manure piles. He has been instructed to order and compel the removal of the same, and will see to it that it is done. It is said that there are from thirty to forty of such nuisances in that vicinity.

The Edgeworth Railroad Case.

The counsel for the Edgeworth Railroad Company, having appealed to the Supreme Court from the decree of the District Court enjoining them from proceeding with the construction of their road over the lands of the Deaf and Dumb Institution, and asked the Supreme Court to fix an early day for hearing the appeal, were notified on Saturday last that the argument on the appeal would be heard on Wednesday (to-day) at Philadelphia. The counsel in the case left last evening, and it looks now as though an early decision might be reached.

Howe's Circus Procession.

To-morrow morning the grand entree of Howe's Circus and Menagerie will take place. The procession will be formed on the lot where the tents are to be placed, and the principal streets of the two cities will then be traversed. The procession will undoubtedly be the most attractive one we have had for a long time. It will include the two chariots, weighing ten thousand pounds, and four of lesser weight, all imported from England, a train of Zebras harnessed, five Elephants, the performing Elephant, the Hyenas and Tigers, &c., &c.

The Shoe and Leather Bank.

This institution has been doing a very satisfactory business since its organization, and its directors have just declared a dividend of five per cent. free of tax, out of the earnings of the past six months. It is a very convenient, as well as a safe place of deposit for a large number of business men, being situated at No. 14 Smithfield street, near the Monongahela House. The Hon. George H. Anderson is President, and Mr. John D. Fraser is the cashier. Six per cent. interest is allowed on time deposits. The statement, just published, shows the affairs of this bank to be in a very healthy condition.

Mr. Chadwick's Appeal.

Mr. Samuel Chadwick, having failed to be obtain an injunction in Court, has filed appeals from the valuations placed upon his property before the Appeal Committee. Mr. Chadwick presented affidavits concerning his own acres and those of Mrs. Sarah A. Wilson, both in the Twenty-first ward. The first were valued by the Revisors at $163,500. Mr. Chadwick's affidavits represent his fifty-three acres and the improvements thereon at $44,760. Mrs. Wilson's forty-three acres in the same district he testifies in his behalf to be worth $43,000. The cases will come before the Committee on Appeals in regular order.

Deputy Mayors' Reports.

Below we publish the reports of the six Deputy Mayors of the city for the month of June, showing the receipts by the city from fines and forfeitures. Wm. H. Barker, Esq., of South Pittsburgh, who is one of the most reliable and attentive magistrates in the city, it will be seen is ahead for the month:

Joseph Irwin	333 60
James Salisbury	93 70
John P. Heisel	378 75
Wm. H. Barker	384 40
G. W. Nichols	380 00
Total	$1,726 50

Coroner's Inquest.

Coroner West yesterday completed the investigations into the manner of the death of the unknown man found drowned at Six Mile Ferry, and the boy John Cass, drowned in the Allegheny on Sunday.

It was ascertained that the name of the unknown man was John Lynch. He was an Irishman, forty years of age and had been engaged on the Connellsville Railroad. Monday one week ago he was taken from jail to the Poor Farm, from whence he escaped the day following. He was insane.

A verdict of accidental death was rendered in the case of John Cass. He with others had gone fishing in a skiff, and the boy fell into the water.

Road Committee Business.

A meeting of the Road Committee was held yesterday afternoon, Mr. Laufman in the chair.

On motion of Mr. Scully, the Road Commissioner was instructed to make the approach of Lytle avenue to Hazlewood avenue accessible.

It was also ordered that the Commissioner notify property owners to repair at once all board walks, and in case of neglect or refusal the officer to have the walk done at their expense.

An ordinance was ordered to be prepared for a board walk on Alliquippa street, from Spring to Ridge streets, Twenty-first ward.

Also, for a sewer on Brady street, from Second avenue to connect with culvert at Fifth avenue.

The assessments of fifty per centum for grading of Sylvan and Greenfield avenues and Sylvan avenue extension were approved.

The contract for the grading, paving and curbing of Hope street, from Miltenberger to Gist street, was awarded to J. J. Booth for 67c for grading, $1 38 for paving, 87½c for curbing and 60c for crossings.

The following pay rolls were approved:

Adjourned.

Meeting of the B. L. E.—Resolutions of Thanks.

At a meeting of Division 50 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Messrs. F. Fleck and Wash McCartney, Committee on Resolutions, reported as follows, the same being unanimously adopted and publication requested:

WHEREAS, The members of Division 50 B. of L. E. are desirous of expressing their grateful sense of the kindness shown them by their well wishers and friends upon the occasion of the celebration of their annual re-union in the groves of Hulton, June 21st; therefore,

Resolved, That we tender our thanks to the gentlemanly and public spirited officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad and Allegheny Valley Railroad companies, to whose kindness we are indebted for leave of absence and free transportation;

Resolved, That our grateful acknowledgements are due Messrs. D. O. Shaver and Geo. Glass, Master Mechanics, respectively of the P. R. R., and A. V. R. R., for favors shown us.

Resolved, That we endorse Conductor Wench and Engineer Cyphers as model railroaders, who spare neither courtesy nor pains to promote the comfort and ensure the safety of passengers entrusted to their care.

Resolved, That we hold in appreciative remembrance the hospitality and kind attentions of our friends and well-wishers of Hulton.

ELECTION OF TEACHERS.

The Second, Fourth, Seventh, Eighth and Fourteenth Wards.

Last evening elections for teachers were held in a number of the wards of the city, and among directors, teachers and many others, much interest is felt concerning them. We give below reports of the result from four of the wards of the city. In the Third ward after four ballots, no choice of Principal having been made, the Board adjourned.

SECOND WARD.

Following is a list of the teachers elected in the Second ward:

Principal, J. C. Tuttle.
Grammar Department (male), Miss Eliza Mason.
Grammar Department (female), Miss Mary J. Thompson.
Intermediate Department (male), Miss Jane B. Wilkerson.
Intermediate Department (female), Miss Annie Curry.

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE.

The Killing of Harry Young—Coroner's Investigation—Foulkes, Moore and Others Unknown Criminally Negligent—Warrants Issued.

Coroner West yesterday resumed the investigation into the cause and manner of the death of the little boy Harry Young, which occurred on Sunday evening in the Seventh ward, Allegheny by his being struck by a stump rolled down the hill. The Commonwealth was represented by A. W. Brown, Esq., and the defense by W. D. Moore, Esq.

WITNESSES OF THE KILLING.

Thomas Christian was the first witness called. He resided in the Third ward, Allegheny; he was standing in George Moss's yard when the stump came down the hill; he heard a racket and saw the stump coming down the hill; he also saw three children playing below, and warned them to run; they did run but the stump overtook one of them and ran over him; witness picked the child up and the only signs of life was a slight movement of the lip; the stump rolled up the embankment about thirty feet, and then took a diagonal direction toward Mr. Moss's house; it struck the boy when it was returning. Witness saw no stones coming down the hill before the stump came; didn't see any boys on the side of the hill except the three children referred to. The stump measured about four and a half feet each way. He did not see any of the parties on the hill come down after the stump was started. Witness could not identify the parties on the hill. In answer to questions from Major Brown, the witness stated that the child was about 400 feet from his mother's house; he tried to move the stump after he had carried the child home, but could not do it.

George Moss, who resides on Howard street, Seventh ward, was sworn.—He corroborated the testimony of Mr. Christian—left the child with him and ran and told Mrs. Young. Witness then sketched the locality of the accident, showing the hillside down which the stump was rolled, the side of the ravine from which it rebounded, and the point where it caught the deceased. Witness said the children played in that place, and that his own children were there a few moments before. The stump could not have been moved by one man; it was so heavy.

THE PRISONER IDENTIFIED.

Isabella Smith, sworn.—Reside at No. 97 Hemlock street; we were sitting on the hillside; saw some boys and one man on the hill who were rolling stones down; they tried for an hour to loosen a stump on the brow of the hill; after they had succeeded in starting it it lodged against a tree; they gave it another start and it went down the hill; a few minutes afterwards Mr. Mason told me a boy had been killed; there was only one man, but there were a number of boys. The Coroner asked witness if she could identify the prisoner, but she could not say that she could. Witness continued: The boys went away but the man staid quite a spell.

Martha Smith was sworn and corroborated the preceding witness in all material points. She said the stump was pried up with a board, and that there was one man and five or six boys working around it; she thought they could have seen the children playing below; she could not identify the parties who started the stump.

George Mason, sworn—This witness gave substantially the same account of the affair as the preceding witnesses, and then continued: Identify the prisoner (Foulkes) as the man who was moving the stump, having been acquainted with him four or five years; it was he who got the board to aid in prying out the stump; the party could not see where the children were playing; they could not see Moss's house.

Officer Jerry Smith was sworn, and testified in relation to the arrest of Mr. Foulkes. Witness continued: Prisoner told me he would not have left his home but he thought a mob was coming after him, and he did not wish to fall into their hands; he also said he would have surrendered himself on Federal street, but did not see an officer.

Andrew McGibbon, aged fourteen years, was sworn—Saw the stump go down the hill; had left Mrs. Smith to go up to the quarry to get a drink; saw the stump go over the little boy; that is the man (the prisoner) who helped to start the log; did not see any person go down the hill to tell the people to get out of the way; Wm. McGibbon and Bob Tiel were in the party who rolled the stump.

TESTIMONY OF BOYS PRESENT.

Wm. McGibbon, aged nine years, was next called, and after bing interrogated, testified: Mr. Foulkes sent me down the hill to tell the boys to get out of the road; told me to go down and see if there were any boys there; told the boys to get out of the way; they said "you know me, if any of us get hurt it will be our blame." The stump was started about twenty minutes afterward; could not see the boys from where the stump was; John Moore was working at the stump too; Mr. Foulkes was the only man there; there were eight or nine boys down the hill, catching crabs in the run; told Mr. Foulkes when I came back that the boys hadn't gone away; went back again and hallooed at the boys; they didn't answer me; when I returned the stump was at the tree.

John Moore, aged sixteen, residing at No. 258 Jackson street, Allegheny, was the next witness. He testified that he had gone up to visit Mr. Foulkes on Sunday, and was looking at the city through a field glass; it was thought that to roll the stump down would be good fun. Witness then detailed how they worked to loosen the stump, and how it lodged against the tree; he didn't know whether Mr. F. had assisted in loosening it from the tree or not. Witness testified further that he couldn't see any houses in the hollow from the place where the stump was started; could see a house at the foot of the hill, but the stump did not go in that direction until it rebounded; heard Mr. Foulkes send the boys down the hill to warn people away; when the boys said they would'nt go he sent them back; when the stump started a second time, did not know whether the boys were there or not.

Mrs. McGibbons was sworn, and testified that she saw the boys go down the hill and halloo to the boys in the hollow; she also saw them go down the second time and throw stones at them and call to them; the boys were about half way up the hill when the stump came down.

Dr. John Kirker, who was summoned to attend the boy, testified in relation to the injuries which had been inflicted.

THE VERDICT.

The testimony having been concluded, the room was cleared and the jury proceeded to deliberate upon a verdict. The consultation lasted some time, when the following verdict was rendered: "That Harry Young, the deceased came to his death from injuries received by a stump which was rolled down a hill in the Seventh ward, Allegheny, and that Giles A. Foulkes, John Moore and others, unknown to the jury, were criminally negligent in rolling said stump down the hill."

A warrant for the arrest of Moore was issued by the Coroner, and warrants were also issued by Mayor Callow for others of the party.

Last evening Foulkes and Moore were brought before Mayor Callow for a hearing in the case, but they waived a hearing and will be committed to jail this morning to await trial on charges of manslaughter.

ELLANOVA SPRINGS.

A Summer Resort Ten Miles from the City—Grand Opening at Haysville.

It becomes more evident every day that it is wholly unnecessary for the inhabitants of Pittsburgh and Allegheny to spend their time and money in going to far-off summer resorts. It is inconvenient for business men to leave the city for the length of time required for a trip to Cape May, Long Branch, or even Cresson, and this fact, coupled with the impression which seems to be prevalent that we must go far abroad or stay at home, keeps many under the depressing influence of the city's heat and dust all summer long.

We feel, then, that we are but discharging a plain duty to our readers in calling attention to an easy solution of the problem of the season.

Mr. R. E. Robinson, the popular proprietor of the Robinson House of this city, yesterday opened the Ellanova Springs House at Haysville, and now offers to the public generally a summer resort in every respect equal to any in the country. It will be remembered that on the tenth of August, 1872, the house of Mr. Robinson at Haysville, was destroyed by fire; but this fire, like many another, has made way for the march of improvement. In place of the old structure Mr. Robinson has erected a magnificent hotel of four stories, of the most approved architectural style, and furnished throughout with all imaginable modern comforts and luxuries. The feature which strikes one first and most favorably from the outside is the splendid range of wide piazzas which run around the first and second stories of the house. To these piazzas French windows open from every room, so that in effect they are a part of the dormitories themselves.

In the spacious hall-way on the first floor the office is located. Following the hall farther back, one comes to the billiard room, in which a beautiful fountain continually plays, and beyond this are the wash-rooms and barber's shop. On either side of the grand entrance are the ladies' and gentlemen's parlors, and large sleeping apartments. On the second floor are more parlors and dormitories, and above the billiard room the large and cool dining hall, at one end of which is a gallery for Prof. Toerge's band, which enchants the guests with sweet music while at meals. The third and fourth floors are devoted exclusively to sleeping apartments.

The house has one hundred and six large transient rooms, with elegant suits for families, and twenty-six rooms for servants and nurses. The whole building is lighted by gas manufactured on the place with Coleman's Pneumatic Gas Machine, furnished by Tate, Munden & Tate, 313 Liberty street, in this city. Every room is furnished with black walnut, and the carpets of Brussels and velvet are from A. T. Stewart, of New York.

The china in use is very elegant and unique, and was imported by Mr. Robinson from Europe, each piece bearing the imprint of "The Ellanova Springs." Attached to the hotel are a well-appointed livery stable and a bowling alley; and conveniently near is the famous spring whence the guests may take the purest mountain water as it leaps from the smitten rock.

So much for the hotel; it is in every minutest particular first class and elegant. But the natural surroundings are what have made the springs so popular, and what must prove the strongest attraction this summer. In the rear of the Ellanora House the cliff rises abruptly, and affords a most magnificent view of the Ohio and its scenery for miles. In the hillside several private cottages are already nestling, and more are in process of construction. From the front of the house a park of eight acres slopes to the very water's edge. The park is, after all, the gem among the beauties of Ellanova. It is tastefully laid out and well shaded; convenient seats are provided throughout, and a pavilion for the band will soon be completed. At night it is lighted by innumerable Chinese lanterns, which give the place a weird and fairy-like appearance; but when, as was the case last night, the bonny moon lends her charms to the scene, it is hard enough to compass the fact that Pittsburgh, with its prosaic brick and stone, is but ten miles away.

The opening "exercises" last evening were wholly satisfactory and encouraging. A very large number of permanent boarders and invited guests partook of a superb supper at seven o'clock, and at eight the dancing began. The house may be considered as thoroughly warmed, and if any of our readers would enjoy the comforts which may be had so near at home, they will do well to make terms with Mr. Robinson without delay, as his list of boarders is approaching completion.

In conclusion, we should say that the architect of this model Summer House is Thomas Boyd, of this city; W. E. Cameron & Co. are the upholsterers; Cochran & Brothers were the contractors; Pickersgill, Lyons & Co. furnished the mirrors; and Tate, Munden & Tate did the plumbing. Mr. Robinson has expended over a hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars on his new place.

We wish the Ellanova Springs the greatest success, and give joy to the happy guests who may sojourn there.

CITY MATTERS IN BRIEF.

THE McKee, Columbia and Howard crews returned from Toronto last night by the Erie express on the Fort Wayne Road.

EARLY yesterday morning a collision occurred on the Panhandle Railroad, near Mingo Station, causing considerable delay in trains. No one was injured.

THE committee of investigation in the First ward election case are called to meet on Thursday evening to "consider the propriety of reporting to Councils."

MR. ZERN, of the Police Committee, said last night that on visiting the Fire Commissioners, they all had their coats off, and "looked like the Modocs encamped in the lava beds."

JOHN MANSFIELD, of Allegheny, who has for some time shocked the decent people of that city by his obscene exhibitions of himself, was yesterday captured by the police, and will be held to a strict account before the Mayor.

A FIRE broke out yesterday in a building on Carson street, South Side, between Eighth and Ninth streets. Cause not known. The Mechanics' Hose Company was promptly on the ground and the fire was put out with but little damage.

MR. BURNS, of Allegheny, foreman for McNaugher & Co., contractors, 83 Ohio street, was very seriously injured yesterday by a premature explosion of a drill blast. His left eye was destroyed and one side of his face was blown off. Dr. Hamilton, who is attending him, says he will live.

THE Walls Accommodation No. 6, which heretofore left the Union Depot at 6:15 P. M., and by the change which took effect on Monday last was ordered to leave at 6 P. M., has been changed so as to leave ten minutes later, to accommodate the workingmen. It will therefore leave at 6:10 until further orders.

LADY principals appear to be in demand among the school boards. The Eighteenth ward already has one whom the members say they would not displace for the best male teacher in the city, and last evening the Fourth ward Board elected Miss Reno, who is highly recommended. She will undoubtedly give satisfaction. In the Third ward four unsuccessful ballots were taken last evening, there being a tie, and one of the applicants was a lady. It is evident that women are gaining their rights. Merit is the test.

THE POLICE.

Meeting of the Committee—Receipts and Expenditures for June—Investigation As to Clothing Contracts.

A regular meeting of the Police Committee was held last evening, Mr. Duff in the Chair.

A number of bills were presented and allowed, while several were held over for examination.

The committee appointed to investigate the conduct of a policeman for arresting Mr. McGimpsey, reported that the latter had withdrawn the charges, and on motion the committee were discharged.

Mr. Zern, from the committee appointed to consult with the Fire Commissioners, reported the result of that interview, as has already been fully detailed in these columns.

Mr. Watson moved the appointment of a committee to ask the opinion of the City Attorney, and suggested that he be requested to prepare an ordinance regulating the fire and police departments. He, Mr. Watson, did not like one committee to monopolize or interfere with the duties of another.

Mr. Duff suggested that such action as that proposed had been anticipated. By direction of the Committee he had presented an ordinance to Councils providing for the appointment of a committee to take charge and control of the telegraph wires. He had further, as a member of Councils, offered a resolution of inquiry as to the authority of the Fire Commission in severing the connection with the police dials. The speaker stated that at the time of the passage of the original ordinance providing for the telegraph he had objected to the sixteenth section, on the ground that a conflict might arise between the Fire and the Police Department. Mr. Morgan, who offered the ordinance, had then stated that the Commissioners, being creatures of Council, could be controlled thereby, and could be legislated out of office. Had this explanation not been given, the ordinance could not have been passed at that time. The Commissioners will now, under the resolution, be required to answer as to their authority for severing the connection.

Mr. Zern, as a matter of information, stated that, upon inquiry, he had learned that the cost of putting up the wire to accommodate the stations of the Twelfth and Seventeenth wards, where the police dials are now used, would be $300, while to extend it to the Twenty-first ward, to include the Fourteenth ward station house, would add $580, or a total of $880.

Mr. Watson expressed the hope that none would ask the additional wire until this question of authority was settled. They have a bell in Lawrenceville which was to give notification of fire, but for a long time previous to the trouble now existing it has never been struck. The Commission want things their own way, but they shan't do as they please.

Mr. Zern said he was willing to go as far as any one to bring the Commissioners to terms, but he could not see what good would result from it.

Mr. Chalmers thought that as it would cost but $300 to give a separate wire as now used, and as there is an interference with alarms at present, that it would be sensible to have the wire put up.

Mr. Jeremy did not see the use of paying out money when it may not be necessary. He thought it would be well to have the opinion of the City Attorney.

Mr. Chalmers held that rather than imperil the citizens on account of fires, that the right of use of the wires should be waived and a police wire put up.

Mr. McGimpsey said that the committee had only asked that the connection be made until arrangements could be made.

Mr. Watson urged his motion, and said he thought the Commissioners were getting beyond their business.

Mr. John Moore said that the Commissioners had no right to control the Mayor, Police and Police Committee, and to deprive 20,000 people of police protection. He thought it an outrageous act.

Mr. Jeremy did not feel like submitting to the will of the Commissioners.

The motion of Mr. Watson was adopted, and Messrs. Watson, Moore and O'Neill were appointed the committee.

Mr. Watson also made a motion to instruct the Attorney to prepare an ordinance defining the duties of the Fire Commission and Police Committee, but after discussion it was lost.

Mr. Laughran, during the discussion, said that after an hour's talk nothing had been done. The Commissioners say the police use of the wires is dangerous and an interference with fire purposes, and this ought to be enough. He favored the additional wire, if needed.

THE POLICE CLOTHING.

Mr. Jeremy stated that he had heard charges brought against the Mayor's office relative to the police clothing, and he felt it due alike to the public, the committee and the Mayor, that an investigation be had. He moved that a committee be appointed to investigate the matter and report thereon.

Mr. Chalmers moved that the committee also investigate the selling of tickets for picnics, &c. in houses of ill fame.

Mr. Patterson, the Mayor's Clerk, by leave addressed the committee. He stated that it was he that was attacked in the matter. The tax-payers, however, had nothing to do with it; the police paid for their own clothing, and it concerned them. He was glad that the gentleman had made the motion. He courted the investigation, and felt sore under the allegations made against him. He was sorry that any member would charge him with dishonesty. He had never received one cent from the police clothing, and Mr. Smith, who made up the suits, would testify that he had never given him (Patterson) five cents' worth. He had lived here a long time and was well known. The reports, he said, all came from a discharged policeman, and the Mayor yesterday received the information. He hoped the committee would be composed of men having a knowledge of book-keeping. He (Patterson) has not, and he could not make anything in the matter.

Mayor Blackmore made a statement regarding the clothing, after which the motion was adopted. And Messrs. Jeremy, Chalmers and Harris were appointed the committee.

THE EXPOSITION ASSOCIATION.

Adjourned Meeting—Appointment of Commissioners and Business Committees—Capital Stock Fixed at $250,000.

An adjourned meeting of the Industrial Exposition Committee was held yesterday afternoon, at three o'clock, in the Common Council Chamber.

Jacob Reese, Esq., occupied the chair, with Thos. S. Mitchell as Secretary.

On motion of Mr. Mitchell, the number of Commissioners was increased to twenty-five, and the number composing the Building and Location Committees to five each.

The Chairman then submitted the following as the list of Commissioners, and members of the several committees:

COMMISSIONERS.

B. F. Jones, iron; James Park, Jr., copper and steel; Mark Watson, window glass; H. W. Oliver, Jr., heavy hardware; Aaron French, railroad car springs; William Clark, hoop iron; John C. Harper press; Thos. S. Mitchell, stoves; John Hemphill, machinery; Mr. Hubbard, saws, axes and shovels; Chas. P. Duff, colleges; S. B. McElroy, dry goods; W. E. Schmertz, shoes; J. G. Weldon, gas fixtures; John Crawford, malleable castings; S. Beymer, white lead; A. Groetzinger, tanners; J. H. Swett, railroad spikes; H. K. Porter, locomotives; John P. Pears, flint glass; Wm. Frew, petroleum; D. W. C. Carroll, boilers; W. H. Phelps, wagons; J. C. Bidwell, plows; John W. Chalfant, metal.

COMMITTEES.

Finance—James Littell, A. Hartje, Henry Hays (of Hays & Getty), Charles J Clarke, C. Yeager.

Charter—Major A. M. Brown, John B. Herron, G. Follansbee.

Buildings—Dr. A. H. Gross, Frank Bissell, C. W. Batchelor, James W. Woodwell, Alex Speer.

Location—James B. Lyon, John Lovely, John Fleming, R. F. Smyth, R. B. Brown.

On motion the appointments of commissioners and committees were approved as read.

Mr. Mitchell moved that the capital stock of the Exposition be fixed at $250,000, in shares of ten dollars each. Adopted.

Mr. Reese suggested, as a means of making the exhibition popular and successful, that each share of the stock shall entitle the holder to one admission ticket, representing a dividend of five per cent. for the first year. Those who took but a few shares of stock could use the tickets themselves; while merchants and manufacturers, who subscribed more largely, could send their extra tickets to their friends or customers at a distance, and thus induce them to visit the exposition.

Judge Parke favored the suggestion, and moved that it be reported to the Finance Committee, with power to act, which was adopted.

The question of charter was then taken up and discussed. Judge Parke remarked that the Allegheny County Agricultural Society had a very liberal charter, which could be obtained. He had assisted in its preparation, and was familiar with its provisions. He knew nothing about the charter for the Polytechnic Institute.

On motion, the two charters named were referred to the Committee on Charter.

It was resolved that the Exposition Association should meet on the first and third Tuesdays of each month, at two o'clock, in the Common Council chamber. Adjourned.

Death of Mr. George E. Swoope.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. George E. Swoope, brother of the Hon. H. B. Swoope, which occurred yesterday morning at eleven o'clock, from typhoid fever. The Chronicle says: "The deceased was not quite twenty-four years of age. About a year or more since he commenced the study of law in the office of his brother, and gave promise of a life of usefulness and high attainments in his chosen profession. He had made hosts of friends during his residence in the city, having fine social qualities and being possessed of a genial, kindly disposition. He was a member of Dr. Scovel's church in this city, and in the church circles as well as in all others in which he moved was esteemed for his excellent traits of character. His death will be learned with regret by a large number of intimate friends and acquaintances. His remains will be taken to Alexandria, Huntingdon county, for interment."

ALLEGHENY SCHOOLS.

Meeting of the Board of Controllers Last Evening.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Controllers was held last evening.

On motion of Mr. Marthens, the regular order of business was suspended to allow him to offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That the usual confirmation of teachers be postponed till the Secretary shall prepare tables exhibiting the average attendance of primary, medium and grammar pupils, respectively, for the last twelve months in each school house, so that the Board may not be betrayed into confirming more teachers in any department than the rule will warrant.

On motion of Mr. Smith action on the resolution was deferred for the present, and President King read the annual report of the Committee on School Inspection.

The committee comment on some imperfections in the management of the schools, but on the whole congratulate the city on their condition. The pupils in many of the schools seem to be deficient in spelling. There are too many teachers in the higher departments, and not enough in the primary schools. The committee recommend the better grading of the schools. They report favorably on the condition of the school houses, but suggest some internal improvements, especially such as will obviate the necessity of the scholars sitting with their faces to the light. In conclusion, they make a strong appeal in favor of a City Superintendent. The report was accepted and ordered to be published in the annual report.

Mr. Hobson moved that at the next meeting the Board go into an election for Superintendent. On motion of Mr. Smith, the matter was postponed.

Mr. McCance, from the Committee on Grades and Text Books, reported, recommending that no change be made at present. The report was accepted and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Blakely, of the Committee on Teachers and Salaries, stated that no report had been made, as no quorum was present at the meeting of the committee. One of the members, however, had made a report, but Mr. McCance opposed the offering of it. Mr. Smith moved that the committee be discharged from further consideration of the matter, and his motion prevailed.

The Secretary read a list of pupils in each ward, and gave the number to each teacher. This list showed an excess of teachers in the higher, and a deficiency in the lower departments. Mr. Smith moved that the number of teachers be graduated according to the following rule:

In the primary departments, one teacher for fifty pupils; in the medium, one for forty-five; and in the grammar, one for thirty-five. The motion carried.

Mr. Marthens moved a resolution instructing the President to appoint a Committee on Retrenchment. Referred to Committee on Teachers and Salaries.

On motion of Mr. Benney, it was resolved, that the Secretary be empowered to prevent pupils from going from one ward school to another without cards of dismissal certifying as to character, and to prevent permits by Directors.

On motion of Mr. Eaton, it was resolved to print 2,000 copies of the annual report to be ready for distribution September 1st. Adjourned.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

On petition of assinee, orders were made for the sale of certain personal property at private sale, belonging to James and Ira B. Duncan, and Robert R. Edgar, of New Brighton, bankrupts.

On motion for solicitor for debtor an order was made for the hearing upon an injunction restraining Frederick Roter, of Titusville, from disposing of property for his own use, transferred to him by Nelson L. Willard, bankrupt.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Collier.

The case of Samuel Arbuthnot, Sr., Samuel Arbuthnot, Jr., and Christ. Arbuthnot, charged, on oath of Benjamin Sarver, with malicious mischief, in cutting down two trees used as landmarks, in McCandless township, occupied the attention of the Court yesterday, and was not concluded at adjournment.

Summer Resorts.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

I desire to call the attention of yourself and your thousands of intelligent readers to various localities and places in our own Commonwealth where the "heated term" can be passed with much comfort and with much pleasure and delight. There is "Cresson Springs," with its cool shades, and where "jocund day stands tiptoe on the misty mount." There are fifty places in and around Philadelphia, many of them beautifully situated on the Delaware. There is old "Bedford Springs," famed for its waters and its health, where, amid its shades, our politicians were wont to meet to discuss the political issues of the day. But I cannot enumerate them for want of time. These places, so thronged with gayety and pleasure, and so much sought for by the invalid, are nearly all in the eastern part of the State. The western part is not so rich in these retreats, but I will call attention to one sweet, delightful spot, and that is Stoneboro, Mercer county, Pennsylvania. It is a large beautiful amphitheatre; on one side of which is a large beautiful body of water called "Sandy Lake," from the fact that the water bubbling up from a thousand springs oftentimes throws sand to the surface. It is a beautiful little lake, about one half mile wide, and about one and a half miles long. It is very deep, and full of fish waiting for the adept to drag them out. It is easy of access by railroad from any where. It is only about five hours' ride from Pittsburgh, through the richest farming lands in the west of our State. I spent several week there in May and June of this year, and was so delighted with its shades, its comforts, its rides and its balmy breezes; and also with its most commodious and hospitable hotel, called the Lake House, where everything good is to be had, and that, too, very cheap, that I thought proper to mention this pretty spot to you and the community. The proprietor of this cozy hotel is Capt. James Leslie, a large, fine looking and affable gentleman, and who is well and favorably known through all the Western counties, as an old landlord, perhaps of forty years, in Lawrence, Crawford and other counties. He keeps a gook house, and the place is simply delightful. Yours, respectfully, W.

Collection of Taxes.

City Treasurer Magee and his large force of clerks are busily engaged in the receipting for taxes. There are crowds of anxious taxpayers in daily attendance, and all are courteously treated and waited upon as speedily as possible. Two clerks now occupy a portion of the Controller's office, where South Side taxes are received.

LOOK OUT FOR THE CHOLERA!

Be Prepared—Use the Carbolic Disinfectant.

It purifies gutters, it purifies alleys, it purifies vaults, it purifies closets, it purifies stables, it purifies back yards. It thoroughly purifies the atmosphere and renders the introduction of an epidemic almost impossible. The cholera is now gradually working its way to our city, and it is the duty of every householder to examine his premises and eradicate bad odors and all the seeds of disease, and it cannot be done in a more thorough manner than by the Carbolic Disinfectant, which is undoubtedly the strongest and most complete disinfectant known. Price fifty cents per bottle. Sold only by McClarran & McKennan, 85 Market street. Branch store opposite the Postoffice.

Money! Money! Money!

A ready made fortune is waiting for somebody at Louisville. The management of the Grand Gift Concert, in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky, have on deposit in the Farmers' and Drovers' bank in that city, a half a million in cash, which will be distributed by lot among the ticket holders on the 8th of July next. The only requisite to a chance for part of the money, is the purchase of a ticket to their concert.

They have the certificate of a responsible bank that it holds the money to pay the gifts in full, and an investment of ten dollars (the price of a ticket) gives a chance for $100,000, $50,000, $25,000, $20,000, $10,000, $5,000, &c. Tickets nearly all sold, and a full drawing certain on the 8th of July.

Tickets may be obtained up to the 5th instant, 3 o'clock P. M.

Ohio Street Property at Auction.

Messrs. James W. Drape & Co., auctioneers, 47½ Federal street, Allegheny, will expose to sale, to-day, at four o'clock, a very desirable business property on Ohio street, Allegheny, adjoining the property of Dr. Cooper, on the corner of Sandusky street. The lot has a front of thirty feet, running back ninety feet to an alley. This will be a rare chance to secure a fine business location. The terms will be announced before the sale. This property is very eligibly situated, and will no doubt command a ready sale.

Wagons! Wagons!

Messrs. C. Coleman & Son, the old and reliable manufacturers, Marion avenue, Allegheny, have on hand and make to order all kinds of wagons, which they guarantee first-class in every respect. Having all the modern labor-saving machinery, and using nothing but the best selected material, which is put together by skilled workmen, they are enabled to sell a number one article at the lowest rates. Persons in want of a wagon, of any description, can have their order satisfactorily filled by leaving it at this establishment.

Drs. Oldshue's Letter of Instruction to Patients.

We are constantly receiving letters, from all parts of the country, requesting information respecting our system of practice, and the course of proceedings necessary to obtain from us a medical diagnosis or medicines.

To facilitate the matter of answering these letters, and to make plain the conditions required to obtain a thorough, scientific and correct diagnosis from ocular, chemical and microscopic examination of the urine, we would say:

In collecting a specimen of urine for analysis, take that first passed in the morning, or immediately after sleep.

No other kind will be examined.

Send about two ounces in a clean vial. A less quantity than two ounces cannot be well tested.

Always give the name of the patient in full.

Be sure to give the age of the patient.

Without knowing the age, we will neither examine the specimens nor give medicines.

Unless the above instructions are strictly followed, no attention will be paid to the case.

Specimens of urine can be sent by express (but not by mail) from any part of the United States; and medicines can be obtained by the same conveyance.

Our charges for examination and medicines range from three to ten dollars.

An Even Balance.

The great desideratum in a sash balance is to have it so adjusted that the sash can be run up or down without friction, and always maintain an even balance. This is secured to a nicety in the Anderson Sash Balance, which, owing to its great superiority over all others, and the ease and economy with which it can be applied to old or new buildings, renders it in great demand among house-builders. Samples can be seen at the office of the Company, No. 70 Smithfield street.

For Cheap Cigars

Go to T. J. Wallace's, 31 Sixth street. Go there for Havanna and Key West cigars, for Lorillard's double thick century, black plug, navy nines, and fine-cut go to this house. Go there for the best Louisville navies of various brands. Richmond bright and black tobaccos are kept there in great varieties, and in large and small packages. If you want cheap and first class fine cuts go to this establishment. Here is the place to find all kinds of snuff, including extra scented Macaboy. Wallace's banner smoking is the best in the market. All grades of smoking at all prices can be obtained there. If you want Tobies, if you want Pipes, if you want Solace—in fact, if you want anything in the cigar or tobacco line, go to 31 Sixth street and get it, and be made happy by so doing.

STOY
AGAIN IN THE MARKET.
Great Auction
OF
FIRST CLASS
CITY LOTS,
TUESDAY, JULY 8th, 1873,
AT 10 O'CLOCK, A. M.
This Plan of Lots is situate between Penn and Liberty avenues, and Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets, opposite the Arsenal Grounds. They are the only large sub-division of Valuable Lots for sale in the central part of the city, commanding all its important and finely improved thoroughfares. No property which is now or can be placed on the market, equals it in the combined location, beauty of surroundings, public and private improvements, facility of access, and convenience to all parts of the city.
LIBERTY AVENUE
Has been relocated, which changes the grades of all the streets in this location. The grades have been fixed by the City Engineer on all the streets covering this area of property—Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth streets, Mary street, Hawley and Liberty avenues. The grading and paving of all the avenues and streets in this location will be put under contract as early as the Commissioners can act. I now offer the most desirable Property in the city, in every particular. Will be glad to see all who wish a pleasant home, which in the future will command a large profit upon the investment.
